INDIAN GOVERNMENT FIRMLY MEETS REBELLION

CITY WILL CARRY OUT PLAN MADE

Council Takes Decisive Vote for Widening of Fort Street at Dardanelles by Expropriation

END LONG SOUGHT IS NOW IN SIGHT

Daily Menace to Life and Limb to Be Removed—Mayor Anson's Proposal Approved

THE early attainment of a goal sought by successive City Councils for nearly twenty years was virtually assured last night when the City Council, by a vote from which only one member dissented, decided to instruct the city solicitor to take expropriation proceedings with regard to the remaining properties required for the widening of the "Dardanelles," that dangerous section of Fort Street which has been the scene of so many accidents and of some tragedies.

For many years the city has gradually been acquiring strips of frontage on properties bordering the narrow portion of Fort Street. The process has been a slow one, and the end in view was still apparently far in the future when Mayor Anson last year, with the support and concurrence of the council, decided that the time had come when more active steps should be taken to do away with a serious hindrance to traffic on a main thoroughfare and to eliminate a menace to life and limb. Today approximately 60 per cent of the property has been acquired by the city, largely by the granting of a rebate of taxes on the whole lot in exchange for the transfer to the city of that strip of the lot which is required in order to widen the street.

REASONS FOR ACTION
Negotiations with owners of remaining properties having failed to result in any prospect of a settlement such as the Mayor and council felt they could accept, it was decided last night to resort to expropriation.

The News

Local and Provincial—Provincial Secretary returns from tour in California. British Columbia's frozen fruit proves popular on prairies. Dardanelles expropriation to be undertaken. Dominion, Imperial and Foreign—Establishment of separate department of Fisheries is authorized by House. Monastery, Seminary and St. Bonaventure Church destroyed by fire, loss estimated at $400,000. Great Britain answers India's defiance by ordering armed forces swiftly into action. Mahatma Gandhi is imprisoned without planning said. Mr. D. M. Kennedy, U.F.A. Peace River, moves amendment in House of Commons to Government's motion to go into supply.

Sports

Norm Forbes enters baseball's hall of fame by pitching no hit, no run game for St. Louis against Chicago in local senior baseball. Jack Dempsey will make return to ring if he can get into condition. Edmonton Grads retain world's hop title by defeating Chicago girls in second game. K. C. Allen creates record in golf by capturing two medal rounds in same day at Oak Bay and Colwood.

Six Killed When Grandstand Falls At Guadalajara

MEXICO CITY, May 5.—Dispatches reaching here today said that six persons were killed and thirty-six sent to a hospital in the collapse of a grandstand at Guadalajara, during the opening of a new airfield there yesterday. The stand collapsed when a motor car rammed one of its supports.

Canadian Fruit Jobbers Aroused By Regulations

WINNIPEG, Man., May 5.—Fruit jobbers from all parts of the Dominion will meet at Ottawa in the near future. It was indicated here today, to decide on action to be taken with respect to new tariff regulations imposed by the recent budget.

"New fruit and vegetable tariff will work to the disadvantage of both the produce man and the general public," stated Mr. Herbert Emery, of the Eastern Canada Fruit Jobbers' Association. He said that fruit jobbers in Canada are now thoroughly aroused at the change from the straight duty charge to the ad valorem rate.

Montreal and Toronto jobbers have drafted resolutions of protest similar to that sent to Ottawa last week from Western jobbers, he mentioned.

PENSIONERS' BILL GOES TO SENATE

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Ont., May 5.—War Veterans' Allowances Bill was given third reading in the House of Commons today. The measure now goes to the Senate. It provides for the payment of allowances to unemployed non-pensionable war veterans.

When the bill came up, Premier King said he wished to correct an impression that the work of the special committee on pensions and returned soldiers' problems was finished. He pointed out that the committee still had under consideration the question of pensions and had before it proposals involving a complete change in the pension system. The committee had given its unanimous approval to the present bill and the Government was anxious to facilitate the passage of the measure for the benefit of returned men.

Hon. R. B. Bennett, Leader of the Opposition, said he would be glad to see the House pass the bill unanimously. From time to time he had noticed the introduction of politics into questions affecting returned soldiers and was anxious to avoid anything of that sort. In earlier debates in the House the Government had not seemed as eager to revise the whole pension system as it was now.

By a vote of seven to four, the City Council last night, decided not to accept the offer made by the Colwood Park Association for a ten-year extension of the horse racing concession at the Willows Park, without first ascertaining what terms might be obtained from others.

AUTOIST GETS PRISON TERM

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Thomas Bell, thirty-six-year-old plumber, was sentenced to from two to twenty years in San Quentin Prison today for killing two persons by driving his automobile into a pedestrian safety zone. He had pleaded guilty to two counts of manslaughter.

OUTLET TO PACIFIC IS ADVOCATED

Mr. D. M. Kennedy Moves Amendment to Government Motion to Go Into Supply

ASKS PREMIER TO CARRY OUT PLEDGE

Member of House of Commons Is Critical of the Delay in Building the Peace River Railway

OTTAWA, Ont., May 5.—A Government motion in the House of Commons tonight to go into supply was confronted with an amendment for the construction of the Peace River outlet. The amendment was moved by D. M. Kennedy, U.F.A. Peace River, asking that "immediate steps be taken to implement the pledge of the Prime Minister given at Edmonton in November, 1924, with regard to the Peace River outlet."

Mr. Kennedy declared his belief that Canada required a rapid and sound development of the Peace River country. He urged construction of an outlet to the Pacific as soon as humanly possible. This phrase, Mr. Kennedy said, had been used by the Prime Minister in Edmonton, in 1924 in pledging the Government to construct the outlet. Mr. Kennedy said he trusted, however, that the Government would interpret the phrase "as soon as humanly possible" in the manner that it had since the pledge was made. He was critical of the "delay" in building the railway.

SERIOUS OBSTACLE
The high rates the people of the Peace River district had to pay to transport their goods to the railway.

Two Persons Are Killed By Tornadoes

KANSAS CITY, May 5.—Tornadoes swept into three states today, causing at least two deaths and injury to several persons. Four tornadoes loosed their fury on Western Oklahoma, wrecking city and rural homes, cotton gins and small buildings in their paths.

Four men were injured, one critically, when a tornado struck Walters, Okla. City officials estimated the damage at Walters at approximately $150,000. A girl was injured and five farms were damaged near Ellinwood, Kan. The twister swept thirty box cars from a railroad track and carried them 500 yards from the right-of-way. The wind also tore up the Santa Fe Railroad tracks between Chase, Kansas, and Ellinwood. In Nebraska the storm swept through a farming section between Grand Island and Hastings, demolishing several homes.

British Force Will Withdraw From Weihaiwei

LONDON, May 5.—The British garrison will be withdrawn and the territory of Weihaiwei restored to China October 1, Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson today told the House of Commons.

Weihaiwei will become an area of international residence and trade, he said, unless the Chinese Government should decide to use it exclusively as a naval base, a formal agreement was signed at Nanking, April 18.

House Authorizes Separate Dept. of Fisheries

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Ont., May 5.—Establishment of a separate department of fisheries was authorized when the House of Commons today gave third reading to interlocking bills which separate the present Department of Marine and Fisheries. There was no opposition to the principle of either bill, although Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, opposed the centralization of the control of all dredging under the Department of Marine.

Five Veteran Canadians in Senate

NOW that Hon. George C. Desautels has passed on at the age of 102, the oldest member in the Canadian Senate is Senator Daniel, who is eighty-five. Senator Daniel, who was born in January, 1845, is closely followed by Senator Beique, top right, who was born in May, 1845, and Senator Laverne, bottom right, who was born in December, 1845. Hon. John McLean, lower left, was born in September, 1846, while Sir George Foster, top left, was born in 1847. All these aged senators, except Hon. Louis L. St. Laurent, are physically active and in service in the Senate are among the most industrious and capable.

FATAL RIOT OCCURS IN NATIVE AREA

(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters)

CAPETOWN, South Africa, May 5.—Native resentment of new Government measures, fomented by the African National Congress, was the underlying cause of the disturbances in the native compounds at Worcester yesterday, when five natives were killed and three policemen and seventeen natives injured. Trouble has been brewing for some time past among the colored multitude of the Union, who regard with great suspicion the Government's native policy.

A strong force of armed police kept guard in the native compounds at Worcester today, maintaining order. Captain F. Barter, of the police, is not expected to recover. He suffered an axe cut in the head and as he lay on the ground was slashed in the neck by a native woman wielding a knife. The natives, aroused and infuriated with ill-fated liquor, proved a difficult problem for the police and at one time drove the police away from the compounds. With relief reinforcements from Capetown, however, the authorities finally restored order.

Whites, fearing property damage, gathered in large numbers around police headquarters and urged that they be permitted to aid the police. The authorities, however, fearing that civilian participation would only lead to more serious trouble, kept the matter in their own hands. Ill-fated liquor traffickers have been a source of trouble in the native compounds at Worcester and other points for some time. Exactly one month ago police were forced to open fire on the natives in order to escape with four whom they had arrested.

EARTHQUAKES ARE FELT IN MENDOZA

BUENOS AIRES, May 5.—Severe earthquake shocks were felt at 8:20 a.m. today in the Province of Mendoza. Their epicentre was placed in the Andes. No casualties or damage were reported.

House Authorizes Separate Dept. of Fisheries

(Associated Press)

After a three weeks' holiday spent traveling along the Pacific Coast, with side trips, as he and his party journeyed between here and Agua Caliente, Hon. S. L. Howe returned yesterday, and is again in his office. While the Provincial Secretary is not a man to complain that he is overworked, there is no doubt that the task which fell upon him during the past few months as Commissioner of Fisheries of solving the questions connected with the increased duties which now are cast upon the head of that department in British Columbia, had earned for Mr. Howe a rest. The Provincial Secretary's idea of a rest is to have a change. Accordingly, his vacation was spent in active travel. He returns to his office in the Parliament Buildings looking refreshed and "fit."

Police Remove "Holy Man" From Fast Train to Whisk Him Off to Poona Jail

(Nasir Parson was the only American newspaper correspondent to witness the secret transfer of Mahatma Gandhi from a railroad train to an automobile to be whisked away to jail in Poona. In the following vivid dispatch he describes the scene.)

BOMBAY, May 5.—The British Raj has struck and the most dramatic scene in the world at 6:30 o'clock this morning was when the Ahmedabad, fast flying Indian mail train, suddenly slowed down at a country road-side crossing fifteen miles north of Bombay, and before the eyes of half a thousand startled Hindu and Mohammedan passengers, the half-naked figure of Mahatma Gandhi, the holy man, suddenly appeared from behind the closed blinds of a supposedly empty restaurant car, and was assisted to alight by a police English policeman.

"Good morning, Mr. Gandhi," "Good morning."

A little dazed, the holy man, naked except for his loincloth, stared at the two uniformed British policemen waiting in shorts and solar topees at the yellow American tourist car, now shrouded in pink curtains, waiting to receive him—at the calm English officer of the Indian Medical Service standing with a Red Cross bag ready to accompany him—and then the holy man smiled and sighed philosophically.

ARRESTED AT NIGHT

He had been secretly arrested five hours before, in the dead of night at his home in Surat, 150 miles north of Bombay. He was now to be rushed under secrecy across country to Poona, where he would be detained in a prison awaiting His Majesty's pleasure under Ordinance 25 of the year 1927, whereby one disturbing the peace, or likely to do so, is liable to arrest.

Britain Counters Indian Defiance With Armed Force

While Troops Bivouac in Cities of India, Gandhi's Followers, Despite His Imprisonment, Press His Campaign of Civil Disobedience—Karachi Begins To Take On Warlike Aspect

Machine Guns Placed at Corners and Upon Roofs

LONDON, May 5.—Armed forces, swiftly ordered into action tonight, became Great Britain's answer to India's turbulent factions. While troops, bivouacked in Indian cities, Mahatma Gandhi's followers prepared, despite his arrest and imprisonment, to press his campaign of civil disobedience. With excitement and apprehension England surveyed the situation in her far-off domain. News from Bombay was scanned eagerly. Observers looked for information which would indicate the trend of the independence movement which with the arrest of Gandhi passed to the leadership of Abbas Tyabji.

Karachi began to take on a warlike aspect. Into the city's heart trooped a detachment of the East Lancashire Regiment. The arming of European bank and mercantile employees by the city government began at once.

THOUSANDS OF PICKETERS

Through the city swarmed thousands of picketers detailed to shops selling foreign cloth. These presently were replaced by companies of European and Indian troops. Mounted and foot police began to patrol Bombay. Machine gun posts were established at prominent corners and upon roofs commanding prominent business and public edifices and sweeping thoroughfares. Schools and colleges closed soon after the news of Gandhi's arrest arrived at about noon, according to stories from Lahore where a day of mourning was declared.

Although no disturbances occurred in the afternoon, football and hockey matches at Calcutta were abandoned owing to activities of picketers. The game between the Sporting Union and Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry was postponed when the latter regiment was called up for duty in Bengal.

LEAGUE TAKES STEP TO CHECK AGGRESSION

GENEVA, May 5.—The arbitration and security committee of the League of Nations tonight completed general discussion of the formulation of a convention by which financial aid would be given by the League to a country threatened by a warlike aggressor. Proposals were referred to a subcommittee for drafting, representatives of all the twenty-nine governments present taking part in a lengthy discussion on them.

Three problems stood out. The first is whether the council "may" or "must," decide when financial assistance is to be given to a victim of an aggression. The second is whether actual war, or only the threat of war should be the occasion for such assistance, and the third whether the convention shall become effective before a general disarmament treaty has been completed or not.

Conference on Subsidies to Be Held Soon

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., May 5.—Premier A. C. Saunders, who has been on a trip to the Pacific Coast and is not returning East, will be present at a conference on subsidies held at Montreal next Thursday by the Board of Audit of Canada and the Premiers of two Maritime Provinces. The claims of the Maritimes will be supported by Premier Saunders and Premier J. B. M. Baxter, of New Brunswick. Premier Saunders will also present the claims peculiar to Prince Edward Island, dealing particularly with the claim for an increase of subsidy in lieu of public lands.

It is stated members of the audit board may visit the Maritimes to familiarize themselves with certain details of the subsidy question. Hon. W. Lee, Minister of Agriculture and Provincial Treasurer for Prince Edward Island, will also represent the province at Montreal with J. O. C. Campbell acting as counsel.

ENTERS CEMETERY AND DROPS DEAD

SEATTLE, May 5.—An aged man, who was refused aid while begging on the streets of Seattle today, walked into the Lakewood Cemetery on Capitol Hill and dropped dead. Coroner's officers were attempting to identify the body.

Monastery and Church Are Destroyed by Fire

(Associated Press)

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 5.—A fire, believed to have started from a short circuit in the wiring in the top of the monastery at St. Bonaventure College, west of Olean, today destroyed the monastery, the seminary and St. Bonaventure church, with a loss estimated at $400,000. The loss is partially covered by insurance. The three buildings were the central group of the campus. They were of brick, about eighty years old. The blaze started in the room of the brothers and was not discovered until the flames were issuing through the roof. A strong wind was blowing and the flames spread swiftly through the monastery, into the church and on to the seminary. Students, priests and instructors in the school organized a fire brigade and succeeded in saving valuable vestments and altar furnishings. The loss included prized paintings and books which cannot be replaced.

OTTAWA, May 5.—Trade possibilities of Asia were described to the local Canadian Club here today in a graphic fashion by Mr. R. J. Cromie, editor of The Vancouver Sun, who has just returned from a world tour. He stressed particularly Canada's strategic position as the most logical supply centre for Asia's vast population.

"The trade of twenty Western Canada waits for the Dominion in Asia," he declared. "The question is: How may we secure that trade? How did Eastern Canada get the trade of Western Europe? By communication and transportation facilities. And that's what we will have to do with Asia. It costs 40 cents a word for Canadian business men to talk with Japan; 60 cents to

Health Insurance
Commission Sits
In Island Cities

NANAIMO, May 5.—The Royal Commission appointed to inquire into the question of state health insurance and maternity benefits held an open meeting here tonight, under the chairmanship of Mr. C. F. Davis, M.P.P., who was assisted by Mr. George S. Pearson, local member of the Provincial Legislature. Representatives of various public and private organizations were given hearings. All spokesmen were in favor of some sort of health insurance, but were insistent as to what plan of administration should be adopted. The majority of them advanced the idea that the Friendly Societies Plan, as in use in Great Britain, was commendable, but they said that details of such a plan, if acted upon, should be left in the hands of the Government.

China and India. How can you transact business on those rates? "The whole swing and rhythm of Asiatic trade has been through the Suez Canal to Europe. Canada must break trail and swing that trade across the Pacific Ocean to her Western ports."

"Canada, he went on to say, needs to be awakened to the trade possibilities of Asia. This is particularly true of Eastern Canada. That part of the Dominion has been neglected to focus its activities on trade from Europe across the Atlantic. Now it must swing its eyes westward to the markets of Asia."

"I have done my best to prevent them," he said.

"The scene was dramatic in its intensity and also in its portent. British officers arresting the holy man—200 years from now if Gandhi comes defied in the Indian rebellion, mothers around their cottage fires would tell this tale."

Even more dramatic, perhaps, was the tenor during the night—the calm, orderly and dignified way in which the British handled the affair—and the magnificent dignity with which the holy man, Gandhi, met the situation.

An episode that very possibly might have resulted in riot and carnage had been handled with as much coolness and self-control as if the mahatma were going to a breakfast party. But around us was seething India.

ARMED WITH GOLF CLUBS

Bartlett and I, learning of this secret rendezvous, raced out from Bombay during the night in a motor car. Joking, but thinking that we might as well have protection.

RECOGNIZED WRITERS

Waiting patiently during the short interval while the great yellow express train lay halted in the open countryside and other taciturn British political officers dressed in shorts and golf stockings passed down his meagre belongings, Gandhi recognized Ashmead Bartlett, veteran British war correspondent, and myself, whom he had met before and who, aside from a handful of police and startled staring heads of Hindus and Mohammedans hanging out of the train windows, were the only other witnesses of this secret rendezvous.

He put out his sinewy little brown arm and shook his head before me.

"Have you any farewell message, Mr. Gandhi?" I asked.

"Shall I say it now or shall I wait?" he replied.

"You had better say it now," I urged.

"Then tell the people of America to study the issues clearly and to judge them on their merits."

"You have bitterness or ill-feeling towards anyone?"

"No, none whatever," answered the holy man. "I have long expected to be arrested."

"Do you think your arrest will lead to great disturbances throughout India?"

"No, I do not. In any case, I can say that I have taken every precaution to avert disturbances."

"Then you do not anticipate trouble?"

"I have done my best to prevent them."

The scene was dramatic in its intensity and also in its portent. British officers arresting the holy man—200 years from now if Gandhi comes defied in the Indian rebellion, mothers around their cottage fires would tell this tale.

Even more dramatic, perhaps, was the tenor during the night—the calm, orderly and dignified way in which the British handled the affair—and the magnificent dignity with which the holy man, Gandhi, met the situation.

An episode that very possibly might have resulted in riot and carnage had been handled with as much coolness and self-control as if the mahatma were going to a breakfast party. But around us was seething India.

Racing through the dark, hot streets of Bombay, city of dreadful night, Indians sleeping in naked bunks, bullock carts joggling out through sleeping walled cities and villages, past the "Towers of Silence" where absent-vulgar bodies were cast, we were as if we were flying before descending to pick the bones and eat the corpses of the dead.

JUVENILE PRESUMPTION

A Canadian learned professor, who appears to be a sensible and practical professor also, says he is opposed to the common custom of encouraging boy "oratory." The sensible and practical professor justifies his condemnation of boy oratory on the ground that it makes shams and humbugs and charlatans of the orators and may make them shams and humbugs and charlatans after they grow and all through their lives. He says boys should be taught to think their own thoughts first, if they are capable of thinking, not set up upon pinnacles to give expression to the thoughts of others, and to pose as lecturers of their elders.

Our juvenile contemporary, The Vancouver Star, has been giving The Colonist a lecture on the ethics and principles of journalism as commonly practised in British countries. It declares we were guilty of a journalistic impropriety in commenting upon a case before the courts in Vancouver, and therefore upon something that in legal parlance is "sub judice." When we discussed the case in Vancouver, the case was not before the courts. Our comment was based upon a telegraphic dispatch from Vancouver, and that dispatch did not say the case was likely to prove serious for either the victim of it or the officer who was the cause of it. No court had sat upon it; a coroner had not even held an inquiry; and no charge had been laid against anybody.

The point we desired to emphasize was that in this country any person who is charged with an offence or is suspected of having committed a crime is regarded as innocent and immune from penalty until he has been convicted of crime before a competent court. The practice in another country, we believe, is that a person charged with crime is guilty until he can prove before a court that he is innocent. In that country any attempt to flee from the wrath of justice is commonly considered an admission of guilt and of the right of the officers of the law to execute summary justice upon him. We believe the Canadian system, based upon the British, to be the better system, and that the amanuensis of the Vancouver Star had better stick to his position to substitute the bad system for the better should be discontinued in Canada.

CORBENISM STAGGERING

If Richard Corben, now in the blessed realm where wicked protectionists cease from troubling and weary authors of learned treatises on the principles of trade are at rest, be looking down below and taking an interest in human events, he must think that the economic times are out of joint. For Free Traders in England appear to be becoming almost as rare as the flowers that bloom in the Spring in that last stronghold of Free Trade in Canada, the boundless rolling plains of the Prairies, in the chief city of which, The Manitoba Free Press is the economic oracle and Mr. Deachman, of the Canadian Consumers' League, is its prophet.

The Macdonald Government of Great Britain has forced through Parliament a measure which indicates that it is not utterly committed to the sound and sacred principles of Free Trade. It has adopted measures for the protection of the coal trade. The measures the Government has adopted will compel the consumers of coal in Britain to pay more for their coal in order that the fuel may be exported and sold for less. That is what the Corbens are doing in order to stimulate the production of coal in Germany. The idea is to create a new market for their wheat. The idea of the British Government is to regain lost markets for coal. The die-hard Free Traders of the British Liberal Party have supported this violation of the principles they profess by supporting the coal measures of the die-hard Free Traders of the Socialist Government.

Such is the economic situation in Great Britain and the following comment upon it by The London Standard is interesting:

A theory of the universe advanced by the great scientist De Sitter assumes that natural laws appear to work in one direction in Germany, and in another close at hand. It is a somewhat bewildering theory, and most laymen will be content to regard it as above their heads. But the Liberal press seems to have embraced it, and to have applied it to the field of economics. Apparently what would be suicidal folly at home takes on the appearance of wise statesmanship when the eye has been turned round the world and lighted upon Australia.

In no other way can we interpret Liberal rejoicings over the heavy tariff which Mr. Scullin, the Australian Premier, means to impose on imports from this country. The thought of Mr. Scullin would make Mr. Corben turn in his grave, but one section of the Liberal press looks on him with admiring eyes, while another, though it rebukes him, does so with the suppressed chuckle of a parent whose naughty child has just played a trick on a much-hated neighbor.

Now we are far from rejoicing over Mr. Scullin's intentions, but we are far from either rebuking him or from regarding his action as a blow directed against Empire free trade. He is doing the best that he can for his country, according to his lights, in what we must admit to be an imperfect world. It does not follow that he would do the same thing, or that Australia would permit him to do it, if some of the imperfections were removed.

The vital imperfection in this case is that the Empire is unorganized, so that each part of it is left to shift for itself. In these circumstances each part must organize itself as best it can. Australia has organized herself on a free trade basis—within her own boundaries. There is no tariff between Victoria and New South Wales. But to protect this free trade area she is obliged to erect a tariff wall against the rest of the world. It is idle to argue from this that she would be unwilling to enter a larger free trade area if there were one available in which she was satisfied that her interests would be adequately protected.

The Daily News solemnly advises Mr. Scullin to remember that, if Australia does not buy from us, we shall ultimately be unable to buy from her. At the same time it attributes her financial difficulties, which is the origin of the new tariff, at least partly to "the break" in wheat prices in which Australia has had bad luck. But we have been buying wheat from the Argentine, where it is grown under labor conditions impossible in any British land, instead of from Australia. Which of us, then, has been cursing the buying powers of the other by about from buying?

Arguments of the sort in which the Liberal press has been indulging are, unfortunately, arguments which defeat their own purpose. They will arouse among Liberals doubts of the wisdom of Cobdenism and of its living exponents. We have not read yet what the die-hard Cobdenites of Canada had to say about the Dunning Budget. But up to the very day before the Budget Speech was delivered The Manitoba Free Press was still preaching the doctrine of Free Trade and extolling the virtues of that doctrine. Probably it would be but reasonable to give it and its contemporaries a few days to recover from the shock and adjust themselves to the new principle of Protection as we are to have in Canada. The candid Yankee politician who told his constituents that "them is my principles, but if they do not suit you they kin be altered," was not more versatile than the Ministers of the King Government and their loyal supporters of the press.

VIVISECTION AND HEALTH

During the week-end, when probably we might have been better employed in the short period of leisure, we looked through a number of newspapers published in many parts of the world, and made a curious discovery. In not one of the newspapers did we see a single letter denouncing vivisection or the incapacity of the medical profession. There are several letters before us at the present time doing both. Putting the two things together, we reached the conclusion that the people in Victoria either must be very peculiar or that there are some people in Victoria who are very peculiar. So far as we know, vivisection is not practised in this city. The Colonist is an influential newspaper within a sphere, but that sphere is not as wide as the world, and we are not so vain as to presume that anything we have to say or our correspondents may feel they have to write on such subjects as vivisection or the mistakes of the medical profession will have a very profound influence upon public opinion or the opinion of the medical schools of Vienna, of Paris, of London, or of Edinburgh. If the object of our correspondents is to undermine the faith of the people in the discoveries of medical science, we are not sure that that is a commendable object. While we are willing to concede that the science of medicine may not be an exact science and that the practitioners of medicine, notwithstanding the knowledge of diseases they may have gained from schools, study and experience, may make mistakes, when we are ill we commit our bodies into the hands of the doctors, not into the hands of theorists and faddists. If our correspondents desire to effect reforms in the methods of the medical schools and the practices of physicians, they should send their letters to papers in which they will attract scientific attention, to the technical journals published in the interests of public health. Of course there are cases in which the health of the individual, like the happiness of the individual and the business of the nation, is a state of mind. In such cases the services of a psychologist may be just as efficacious as the offices of a physician.

THE COMING STORM

There was a time when Mr. J. W. deB. Farris took an active part in politics in British Columbia. Mr. Farris was so active in provincial politics for a time that he was given the important position of Attorney-General in a Liberal Government, and we shall not say that he did not adorn the position, for Mr. Farris is a clever man. Mr. Farris seems to be beginning to take an active interest in politics again, and is reported to have said a very clever thing, possibly to prove that he is quite as eligible for a portfolio in the King Government as Mr. Pattullo, who has never deserted his political friends and may believe that for his loyalty he is entitled to the first chance at the expected job. Speaking in Vancouver, Mr. Farris said the Conservative Government of the Liberal Government of stealing their thunder, whereas what the Liberal Government had done was to steal the lightning and let the Conservatives keep their thunder. Well, lightning is a dangerous element in the hands of those who are ignorant of its destructive properties. One of its most dangerous peculiarities is a habit of striking in unexpected places. We are not accustomed to hearing thunder or looking at lightning in this part of the world, but in other places where thunderstorms are common, it is not the sound of the thunder but the flash of the lightning which is dreaded.

CORRECTION

Sir,—On page thirty-three of your issue of May 4 there appeared an article on the Victoria School of Expression. I appreciated it very much, but I hope you will allow me to correct an error concerning my qualifications. The statement that I am the only holder in the Dominion of diplomas for teaching elocution is not correct. There are other qualified teachers of elocution, and also successful colleges and schools of elocution all over the Dominion, which issue diplomas to qualified students.

As far as my own qualifications are concerned I am the only teacher of elocution in the Dominion holding a combination of the following three: 1, the British Board of Education's teacher's diploma; 2, the Licentiate of Trinity College of Music, London, Eng. (teacher's diploma); 3, the Fellowship of Trinity College (artist's diploma).

At the same time will you allow me to say that although, when I opened my school twenty years ago, I had no influence behind me, since then I owe more than I can say to the inspiration and encouragement of my friends, not only from my present citizens, but also from students and parents of students. I am also grateful for the unfailing courtesy of The Daily Colonist.

ENGLAND AND EGYPT

Sir,—In a recent report from London it seems that an inharmonious discord has been struck in Anglo-Egyptian affairs.

The discord has been caused by the refusal of the British Government to permit the Egyptian Government full administration of the Sudan.

It appears that the members of the Egyptian delegation headed by Premier Nahaas Pasha are very much disappointed at the Government's decision and that they are bent on returning to their country without their request being granted as they fear incurring the wrath and displeasure of the British.

It is hard to realize that Egypt would want to be so ungrateful to a country that has enabled her to place under the sun. Since the time of the completion of the Suez Canal, the British have been in the front, education, governmental and social uplift have placed the people nearly on a par with other nations of the world.

ELOCUTION AT FESTIVAL

Sir,—Since it would no doubt be thought unparliamentary to complain after the event, may I state before the closing of the Musical Festival that great disappointment has been caused to a number of contestants by the action of the committee in substituting, at the last moment, in place of Mrs. Sutton, of New York, an adjudicator who is considered by many to have already shown a marked antipathy to certain types of voice.

CORRECTION

Sir,—On page thirty-three of your issue of May 4 there appeared an article on the Victoria School of Expression. I appreciated it very much, but I hope you will allow me to correct an error concerning my qualifications. The statement that I am the only holder in the Dominion of diplomas for teaching elocution is not correct. There are other qualified teachers of elocution, and also successful colleges and schools of elocution all over the Dominion, which issue diplomas to qualified students.

As far as my own qualifications are concerned I am the only teacher of elocution in the Dominion holding a combination of the following three: 1, the British Board of Education's teacher's diploma; 2, the Licentiate of Trinity College of Music, London, Eng. (teacher's diploma); 3, the Fellowship of Trinity College (artist's diploma).

At the same time will you allow me to say that although, when I opened my school twenty years ago, I had no influence behind me, since then I owe more than I can say to the inspiration and encouragement of my friends, not only from my present citizens, but also from students and parents of students. I am also grateful for the unfailing courtesy of The Daily Colonist.

ENGLAND AND EGYPT

Sir,—In a recent report from London it seems that an inharmonious discord has been struck in Anglo-Egyptian affairs.

The discord has been caused by the refusal of the British Government to permit the Egyptian Government full administration of the Sudan.

It appears that the members of the Egyptian delegation headed by Premier Nahaas Pasha are very much disappointed at the Government's decision and that they are bent on returning to their country without their request being granted as they fear incurring the wrath and displeasure of the British.

It is hard to realize that Egypt would want to be so ungrateful to a country that has enabled her to place under the sun. Since the time of the completion of the Suez Canal, the British have been in the front, education, governmental and social uplift have placed the people nearly on a par with other nations of the world.

ELOCUTION AT FESTIVAL

Sir,—Since it would no doubt be thought unparliamentary to complain after the event, may I state before the closing of the Musical Festival that great disappointment has been caused to a number of contestants by the action of the committee in substituting, at the last moment, in place of Mrs. Sutton, of New York, an adjudicator who is considered by many to have already shown a marked antipathy to certain types of voice.

VICTORIA WELL ADVERTISED ON COAST CRUSADE

Mr. George I. Warren Returns From Extensive Trip of Travel and Hotel Men

MANY PUBLICITY TALKS ARE GIVEN

A highly satisfactory report of the results attained for Victoria in the recent Pacific Coast crusade is made by Mr. George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, who returned to Victoria this morning.

Fifteen meetings were addressed north of San Francisco, up to which time the three Victorians, Mr. Warren, chairman of the British Columbia committee; Mr. David Leeming, president of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, and Mr. Stephen Jones were the only Canadians among the hotel and travel officials who made up the party. South of San Francisco, twenty-one meetings were addressed, besides a number of brief talks made at various receptions.

Mr. Warren reports that personal contact has been made with well over 10,000 persons, many of whom have been publicly and travel experts, and Victoria has been advertised from British Columbia to the Mexican border.

WELCOMED BY BANDS

Again and again the travelers were welcomed by local bands, which turned out for the occasion. At Union Lakeport, in California, a high school band met the party at 7:30 in the morning, and, at San Francisco, they were met by the municipal band and conducted in a bus to the City Hall.

Here they were joined by Mr. T. S. Dixon, British Columbia president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Mr. A. E. Craddock, of the British Columbia Automobile Club, and other British Columbians.

FAVORABLY MENTIONED

"Victoria was favorably mentioned at between thirty and forty places," Mr. Warren said. "Besides the 110 members of the caravan composed of well-known hotel men and publicity experts of California and Oregon, direct contact was made with at least 10,000 persons, and Victoria's appeal was placed before them in such a way as to be bound to result in many being drawn to the island. Newspapers at all points prominently featured Victoria and British Columbia. We also received benefit from contact with such men as Don Thomas, manager of the All Year Club of California, and John Cuddy, manager of the Californians Incorporated. From these two we secured valuable information on the methods followed by these two well-known publicity experts in their campaigns for Southern and Northern California."

SUPREME COURT HAS NEW JUDGE

Mr. Justice Fisher Sits in Victoria for First Time—Bar Extends Greetings

Mr. Justice Fisher was welcomed to Victoria in Supreme Court chambers yesterday, on behalf of the Bar Association of the city by Mr. H. A. Maclean, K.C., and replied in cordial terms to the greeting extended to the Supreme Court bench some time ago, but this was the first occasion on which he had sat in Victoria. He is, however, well known here, not only as a barrister acting on behalf of clients in the appeal court, but also as a member for Fernie in the Legislature.

This Week's Great Day

MAY 6—THE CAPTURE OF "EL GAMO"

One hundred and thirty years ago, on May 6, 1800, Admiral Thomas Cochrane, Earl of Dundonald, accomplished one of his most daring exploits of his adventurous career.

He was born in 1775, and at the age of eighteen entered the Royal Navy, where his overbearing reputation gained for him an unenviable reputation. In the wake of his daring and contempt, with which he treated his superior officers and his merit and diligence earned him rapid promotion.

In 1800 he was given the command of H.M.S. Speedy, a sloop of only 158 tons, which was so small that there was no room for a chair in his cabin, and when he shaved he had to stand on his bed, remove the skylight and use the deck as a toilet table. With this little craft, which carried an armament of twelve four-pounders and a crew of fifty-one, Cochrane succeeded in capturing a large merchant vessel and privateers and a few small warships.

On May 6 he encountered a great Spanish frigate, El Gamo, and at once determined to attack her. In the midst of the attack, and despite the overwhelming odds against him, El Gamo carried twenty-two and eight hundred and thirty tons, and was out-firing a gun the Spanish vessel poured out a heavy broadside, which was returned by the Speedy. The Spanish commander decided to board the Speedy, but he was forestalled. Cochrane led the helm of his vessel in the hands of the ship's surgeon and boarded El Gamo with the whole of his men, most of whom had blackened their faces in a hideous fashion. The British sailors uttered blood-curdling yells as they swarmed over the side of the ship, and before the Spaniards had recovered from their terror at seeing black faces like a troop of demons in their midst the whole crew of 319 had been disarmed. For this feat of unparalleled audacity Cochrane was promoted to post rank.

The subsequent career of the intrepid sailor was a checked one. He was constantly in trouble with his superior officers, and becoming involved in disastrous stock exchange speculations, he was sentenced to imprisonment for fraud in 1814. This caused his dismissal from the navy, and for more than ten years he was a wanderer, serving successively in the navies of Chili, Brazil and Greece, where he performed numerous acts of reckless daring. In 1832 he secured reinstatement in the British Navy, and once again distinguished himself, notably during the time he was in command of the fleet on the North American and West Indian stations.

Cochrane was a most versatile scientific inventor, and patented several processes and mechanical contrivances which proved of great service to the navy. During the Crimean War he proposed a plan for the annihilation of the Russian fortress at Sebastopol, which he claimed could be effected without any damage to the attacking force. The details of his scheme have never been made public, but the British Government, while admitting its feasibility, decided it was of too barbarous a nature to adopt.

The bold and ingenious sailor died in 1860 at the age of 85, and left behind him a record of daring achievement which has never been excelled in the annals of the British Navy. (Copyrighted.)

LAST POST FOR MAJOR J. GREIG DEAD IN SOUTH

Gallant Soldier Passes—Won Military Cross and Was Decorated by His Majesty

SERVED IN ROYAL FIELD ARTILLERY

Major John Greig, M.C., formerly of Victoria, passed away at San Francisco Sunday afternoon last, according to advices received in this city early that evening. Major Greig was born in the California city, and came to Victoria with his parents as a small child, his father, the late Mr. John Greig, becoming prominent in local musical circles, and was the founder of the Arion Club.

Educated in Victoria, the late Major Greig was for a time employed with the Tye Copper Company, and later entered the law firm of Crease & Crease, being admitted to the British Columbia Bar before going overseas with the Army Medical Corps. After serving for a time in France with that unit, he attended the Imperial Artillery School in England, being the only Canadian there, and passed out high, ranking in third place. Joining the Royal Field Artillery, he was wounded and awarded the Military Cross for conspicuous gallantry in action, being decorated at Buckingham Palace by His Majesty King George V.

Following the Armistice, the late Major Greig was employed at Wembley, later entering the services of a motor-selling concern. He recently went to California, where he was engaged with a title research company in Alameda.

The late Major Greig's mother, who resides here, left on Friday last for the South, on being advised of her son's illness in the California city, and reached him early Sunday morning. He is survived by his widow, living in England; his mother, Mrs. A. M. Greig, of 141 Wellington Street; two sisters, Misses Winnie and Marjorie, of the above address, and two brothers, Mr. Alan Greig, of Cowichan Lake, and Mr. Kenneth Greig, of San Francisco.

POLICE OF B.C. SECOND TO NONE

Inspector Parsons Tells Gyro Club Members About Early History of the Force

For their weekly luncheon at the Empress Hotel yesterday, the Gyro Club had Inspector T. W. S. Parsons, acting Commissioner of the Provincial Police as the guest speaker. Inspector Parsons traced the history of the Provincial Police from the time of its formation seventy years ago, as a constabulary force, at the request of Sir James Douglas, down to the present time. The hectic days of the Cariboo gold rush necessitated a force of courageous and determined men to handle the desperate characters who endeavored to prey on the decent element at the mines and on the trails.

The inspector said the Provincial Police of British Columbia were second to none, and the country owed its members a debt of no small magnitude. The Provincial Police co-operated closely with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The motor department of the force was one of the finest in the world. He pointed out the advantage of a police radio service covering the province, and mentioned the part aeroplanes were playing in connection with police work.

NOTABLES WILL GREET MEMBERS

Lieut.-General Sir Percy Lake and Mayor Ansonb to Welcome Delegates at Convention

Lieutenant-General Sir Percy Lake and Mayor Herbert Ansonb, on behalf of the Dominion Command of the Canadian Legion and the City of Victoria, respectively, will welcome the various delegates to the annual convention of the British Columbia Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, to be held at their headquarters at the Douglas Hotel May 15 and 16. This announcement is made by the local zone representative.

Mrs. T. A. Barnard, of Nanaimo, the provincial president, will occupy the chair during the two daily sessions. A large deputation of delegates from all parts of the province is expected to be in attendance, and many new resolutions are already on the agenda for discussion.

On the opening evening of the convention a monster banquet will be held in the Douglas Hotel, when Hon. Joshua Hinchcliffe, Minister of Education, will be the chief speaker. Final arrangements will be made by the committee during the week.

MR. BOWSER BEREAVED

Mr. Arthur Mitchell, Former Resident, Dies in New York

The death of Mr. Arthur Mitchell, formerly of this city but for years a resident of New York, occurred yesterday in the latter city. For some time he had not been in the best of health and spent a large part of last year in Victoria in the hope of regaining his health. During his stay here with Mrs. Mitchell and his son he was the guest of Mr. W. W. Bowser, K.C., who is an uncle of Mrs. Mitchell. The stay in this city was attended with good results and it was anticipated that he was on a fair way to recovery. Recently, however, he was taken ill again and passed away. Mr. Bowser left last night for New York.

Mr. Mitchell was an official of the St. Joseph Lead Company in New York, being assistant to the president of the organization. He is survived by his wife, who before her marriage was Eunice Margaret Bowser. His mother, Mrs. Mary H. Mitchell, also is living, a resident of Springfield, Mass. The only son, Arthur Hoadley, eleven years of age, is in Victoria with Mr. Bowser, and there are two brothers of the deceased living in Philadelphia. As a consulting engineer, Mr. Mitchell was a resident of Victoria for some time, as a member of the firm of Cavanaugh & Mitchell.

"The Home had to be broken up"

THERE was nothing else to be done.

Her husband had been a rising automobile dealer. Doing well, he had worked without stint for his loved ones at home. He had always meant to insure for their benefit but had kept putting our agent off.

He wanted to wait until he could spare the money to take out "a policy worth while" as he put it.

And now he was gone. Spent too was most of the savings. That auctioneer was almost giving her things away! She would have to go back to her mother's until she could decide what to do. If only—That tragic "if only"!

If husbands could only realize the anguish and bewilderment that grips the young widow who must face "her world in ruins" and provide for her children—with no insurance money—there would be vastly less suffering in the world.

To protect his home and those dependent on him is the first duty of every man. A modest deposit made yearly with us would bring a monthly cheque to your dependents that would keep them in comfort.

PARTNERS IN A GREAT ENTERPRISE

Labor

"ENDURING equal partnership, national in character, cannot exist unless it is based upon mutual understanding and co-operative effort."

—Senator GIDEON ROBERTSON at the 1929 convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce on "Canada's Economic Partnership."

Labor is one of the greatest members of the Canadian Economic Partnership. Without it the highest visions of progress are useless. Today, in Canada, it is a powerful force. Its standards of living have bettered, its outlook has become national and it has contributed men of genius to almost every phase of leadership. In its complete co-operation with capital lies the secret of progress. With both elements in harmony Canada will quickly realize her vision of ever-widening prosperity.

The Bank of Toronto has always been closely in touch with the wage earner. Through its savings department and other banking facilities this Bank has established a mutual co-operation and for three-quarters of a century has retained the faith of the Canadian people. Today, as always, its co-operation and advice are available to every citizen of integrity.

THIS amazing record of the General Electric Refrigerator is made possible by an exclusive feature . . . the hermetically-sealed mechanism mounted on top of the cabinet. All the machinery, together with a permanent supply of the purest lubricating oil, is sealed air-tight in a sturdy, steel casing . . . forever safe from dust and moisture, dust-proof and trouble-proof.

The top unit arrangement is one of the many important developments of 15 years General Electric research. It results in more economical and more efficient operation because the warm air extracted from the interior of the cabinet is dissipated above . . . not around . . . the cabinet. The upward current of air also keeps the mechanism free from dust.

The new all-steel models are built like a safe. They cannot warp. Tight-fitting doors ensure the perfect insulation that makes it easy and economical to maintain a temperature safely below the danger point of 50 degrees. We will be glad to demonstrate the accessible freezing regulator and the many other points of superiority in the General Electric Refrigerator. Come in today.

FAMOUS BREEDER HAS SOLD HERD

Mr. John Perrean, of Isle of Jersey, Disposes of 100 Head of Prime Cattle to Ontario Men

LONDON, May 5.—A dispatch from the Isle of Jersey, in the Channel Island group, says that Mr. John Perrean, Jersey's foremost breeder of the famous cattle, has sold his herd, consisting of about 100 head of prime cattle, to Messrs. S. H. Hill & Son, of Brampton, Ont. The Jersey breeders regard it as a calamity that the herd should be allowed to leave the island.

CITY TO ASK OTTAWA FOR PARK LANDS

Council Decides to Request Dominion Government to Make Grant of Clover Point

FORMER EFFORT NOT SUCCESSFUL

According to a request made by the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter of the I.O.D.E., the City Council last night decided again to approach the Dominion Government and ask for a grant to the city of the land along the waterfront in the vicinity of Clover Point. In the course of the discussion on the proposal it was explained that some time ago the city had made the same request to the Ottawa Government and had been told that the city would be allowed to improve the land and to use it for park purposes, but without any security of tenure, only on terms which were impossible. Alderman Woodward doubted the advisability of renewing the former effort, but Alderman Litchfield thought that the Dominion Government might be in a more favorable mood at the present time. Alderman Strath thought that action should not be delayed, and the council as a whole supported the motion of Alderman Dewar, which proposed that the Ottawa authorities should again be asked to grant the land.

get their grain and other products to market constituted a serious obstacle to progress, Mr. Kennedy went on. He then compared the present freight rates from various points in the Peace River district to Vancouver and Prince Rupert with rates from Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan. The rates from the Peace River points ranged from 26 cents to 32 cents per hundredweight. Rates from Southern Alberta to Vancouver were about 24 cents per hundredweight, and the rates from Saskatchewan to Port William were 22 cents per hundredweight.
In the House of Commons in 1927, Hon. Charles Dunning, then Minister of Railways, in discussing this matter, had promised early action, said Mr. Kennedy. He stated that the Government would secure engineering information as to which pass the proposed railway should be built through. Mr. Kennedy demanded fulfillment of this undertaking.
Every year, he continued, Parliament had been passing large votes for the Hudson Bay Railway. He would like to see a similar amount expended on the Peace River railway, and felt it would be equally justified.

This is arranged for under the provisions of the legislation which was passed at the session of the Legislature for the assisting of farmers in the Peace River and elsewhere in obtaining water for domestic use and for stock purposes. The money spent upon drilling wells and casing them will be charged against the farmer benefited and will be repaid to the board.

Beautification of Victoria—The question of the Province, assisting in a definite plan of the beautification of the capital city of British Columbia, was discussed by the Government this afternoon, when representatives of the city will present the matter before Premier Tomin and his colleagues. The delegation will be representative of the City Council, the Chamber of Commerce, service clubs and other organizations of the city. It will be led by the special committee of the City Council which pioneered the proposals. The delegation will be introduced to the Premier by Mr. Reginald Howard, M.P.P., senior member for Victoria, assisted by Mr. James H. Beatty, M.P.P., and Mr. H. D. Twigg, M.P.P., all of whom have shown interest in the plan.

The following notices appeared in an Ontario newspaper, which devotes part of its space to matter in English.

"The news of English we tell the latest. Write in perfect style and most earliest. Do a murder before we hear of it and tell it. Do a mighty chief die, we publish it and a mighty chief die. GIRLS' BAND GIVEN OVATION

Audience of Over Three Thousand Applauds Musicians at First Concert

CRYSTAL GARDENS FILLED TO DOORS

Victoria may have a reputation for inactivity, but it given the lead to the rest of Canada by organizing the first girls' band in the Dominion.

Judging by the acclaim which they had on the occasion of their first concert here, other provinces will be demanding a visit from the musicienne before long. An audience of over three thousand greeted the band last evening at the Crystal Gardens. The great auditorium was packed, and from the very first the reception was of the most flattering kind, which promises well for the future of the organization. At the close of the programme enthusiastic friends nodded round Bandmaster Hodgkins, and instrumentalists, and bombarded them with compliments. They were well-deserved. There have been no half-measures in the experiment. All the details are worked out on the basis of a band which has come to stay. Smart military uniforms of cream kasha cloth trimmed with scarlet braid and with scarlet-faced military caps; neat scarlet-peaked caps, red shoes, white silk stockings; the individual property of the girls; neat metal music stands backed with initialed blue banners. The girls have their own drum major, Roxburgh, whose distinguishing badge is her high fur busby and her heavy rod of office. The bandmaster wears a bobby uniform.

In a band of things like more than surface importance. In addition to their place as a musical organization, the Victoria Girls' Band is destined to prove a splendid advertisement to the city because of their smart appearance. Everyone who heard and saw them last evening felt a keen sense of pride in the fact that they belong to Victoria.

Numbering forty pieces, brass and silver instruments, the band is made up of girls ranging in age from fourteen to twenty-one years. The nucleus of the organization was supplied by Bandmaster Hodgkins' two daughters, Mildred and Ruby, both of whom are accomplished cornetists. With such a standard the girls had an ambitious goal, and tenors, baritone, basses, alto, trombone, sousaphone, basses, bass drum and kettle drums have worked hard to become proficient in their instruments. The programme last night proved an excellent test of their abilities, and in their final number, A. L. Hayes' "Determination," which is one of the best pieces which the competing youth bands will play at the Musical Festival next Saturday, the audience heard the ensemble at its best. The attack and opening passages were splendidly effective, and a brilliant bit of playing was heard in the recurring quartette, using first and second cornets, baritone and basses. It is not exaggeration to say that the girls played these particular sections like veterans, and after hearing their performance of this composition, Victoria will be greatly surprised if the laurels pass to any outsider.

Among the other particularly pleasing numbers were the two descriptive pieces, Barnard's "Garden of Eden," with a baritone duet followed by a cornet repeat, a work showing great tonal effects and employing big crescendos; "Indian Boy," and "Irish Melodies." In the last, were some very favorite old Irish melodies: "Come Back to Erin," the "Weir in the Green," "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls." The last was particularly well played, with fine effect in rallentando and retard. The cornet showed a little tendency to run away from the other instruments in the "Come Back to Erin," and the tempo was slightly too methodical in "Weir in the Green," but the general effect was admirable. Another very popular selection was the pot-pourri of Southern melodies, particularly "Old Folks at Home" and "Old Black Joe," the former having a good part for the cornet. Intonation was good in the majority of the instruments, but a little intonation was apparent in the sousaphones here.

Other band numbers in the programme were the march, "Great Divide," a good stirring performance; the waltz, "Sweet Rose," "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and the march "Double."

ATTRACTIVE CORNETISTS
The cornets supplied the instrumental solo numbers, Miss Marjorie Hodgkins playing "On the Banks of Allan Water," and she and her sister, Miss Ruby Hodgkins, playing Strausberger's "We Two" as a duet. A sweet ringing tone characterized the playing of both instrumentalists, and this, one learned, was due to a special method of teaching which Bandmaster Hodgkins employs, and which, because there is no pressure, makes sustained effort easy for the player. "On the Banks of Allan Water" is a type of composition which demands sustained effort, the piece taking seven minutes to play. The latter was not in the least conscious of any sense of fatigue, and the artist, and her tone was uniformly sweet and true. In their duet the two girls were accompanied by the piano by Miss Margaret Brockington. As an encore, in response to long applause, they played "Darling, I Love You," the intonation of the instruments showing a keen musical sense.

In the first of their duets, a florid piece with variations on the air, the girls played a trick of technique which experienced bandmen sometimes find it impossible to accomplish, was used, giving a brilliant and happy effect.

The band programme was augmented by vocal numbers by Mr. Thomas Kelway and Mr. Ernest Butterworth, and dances by mes-sers of the band and some of Miss Violet Powke's pupils. Messrs. Kelway and Butterworth were particularly popular in their duet together, a group of selections from "The Student Prince" being especially well sung. As an encore they gave "In This Solemn Hour," from "Forza del Destino." Mr. Butterworth's much-enjoyed solo were "Vagabond King" and "Song Is So Old." Mrs. C. C. Warr accompanied skilfully.

The tap dance by the girl bandmen were very smartly stepped, those taking part being Barbara Brown, Clare Rosebottom, Evelyn Grieve, Eleanor Luney and Phyllis Petherbridge. The two ballet numbers presented by Miss Powke's pupils were very attractive and spirited, the girls wearing dresses of blue and gold gauze. The members of the ballet were Cecelia Dowdall, Maryann Peterson, Berna Waring, Peggy Macdougall, Helen Peden, Eugenie Doherty, Joyce Finch and Madeline Grant.

Occupying a box in the gallery were the Chief Administrator of the Province and Mrs. Macdonald, the Premier and Mrs. Tolmie.

KING'S DAUGHTERS ELECT OFFICERS

Mrs. L. H. Hardie Re-elected District President—All Circles Give Reports—Activities Continue

Mrs. L. H. Hardie was again re-elected district president of the International Order of King's Daughters and Sons at the annual meeting of the branch held yesterday at the rooms, Hibben-Bone Building. Other officers were elected as follows: Vice-president, Mrs. R. R. Watson; secretary, Miss Kathleen Roberts; treasurer, Mrs. James Stewart.

In addition to the presidential report there were reports from the following six circles: Victoria Circle, given by Miss Morley; Ready-to-Help Circle, Mrs. Strickland; Willing Workers, Miss Audrey Beare; Hawthorne Circle, Mrs. James Stewart; Speedwell Circle, Mrs. R. A. Phear; and Ministering Angels, Mrs. Perry. Assistance was given during the year to the Victorian Order of Nurses, the Protestant Orphanage, the Jubilee Hospital, Poppy Day, the King's Daughters' Hospital at Duncan, the Y.W.C.A., the Social Service League, the Salvation Army, the Friendly Help Association and the Soldiers' and Sailors' Club at Malahat Beach. Also, help was given many private cases, children and families being supplied with milk, fuel, cash, food and clothing, and layettes. The Canadian Legion tag day was assisted with helpers.

The rest room was open on 306 Douglas during the year, and 39,763 persons made use of the premises. Total gross receipts for the year were $5,211.12. The report of the auditors, held recently, showed total receipts of $7,959.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

In her annual report, the president, Mrs. Hardie, reviewed the year's activities, noting that there had been a slight increase in the membership. The chief activities had been the rest room, in the Hibben-Bone Block; the team, at the fair last August, and the King's Daughters' Hospital at Duncan. At the president, she had attended the convocation services for the new cathedral. On January 12 the anniversary services commemorating the founding of the order in 1886 was held. A visit to the Social Service camp at Sassex was made at the opening last June. In December last a sale of work was held at the Crystal Gardens. In March last the Victoria members were hostesses to the Provincial O.C., and entertained it at supper in the rooms. The annual auditors' report was held on April 12.

In referring to the history of the order during the year, Mrs. Hardie spoke of the renovating which had taken place.

Mrs. Stewart, treasurer, and Miss Roberts, secretary, were especially thanked for their work in connection with the order, and tribute was paid to Mrs. Kingham for her excellent reports of the King's Daughters' Hospital.

After refreshments, the gathering enjoyed a programme of vocal numbers contributed by Mrs. Townsend and Mrs. France (duet), Mrs. Leferre, Mr. R. Fawcett and Mr. A. Simpson. The next party will take place on Saturday, June 7.

Not long ago I was told of a bank which takes on a number of young men, and under the auspices of their salary receipts is printed a legend, something like this:

"Your salary is your personal business—a confidential matter—and should not be disclosed to anybody else."

One of the boys, in signing this receipt, added:

"I won't mention it to anybody. I'm just as much ashamed of it as you are."

Review No. 19, W.R.A.
On April 30 the Women's Benefit Association, Review No. 19, held the last of the series of whist drives given by them every month during the winter. Prize winners for the evening were: Ladies, first, Mrs. McInnes; consolation, Mrs. V. Jackson; gentlemen, first, Mr. Davie; consolation, Mrs. Turner. Prizes for the grand total for the season's games were won by Mrs. Nicholson, with a score of 776, and Mr. Charles Baker, with a score of 804. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Greenhorn, Mrs. Eberts, Mrs. English, Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Hallberg, Mrs. G. Jacobson, Mrs. Leove, Mrs. Estridge and Mrs. Howeser. On May 1, the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Benefit Association, Review No. 19, was held in the Knights of Pythias Hall, with twenty members present. Mrs. J. Cook, the president, announced that

TODAY'S RECIPE

GOLDEN Cake—One cup of butter, two cups of sugar, the juice of a lemon and grated rind of an orange, one cup of milk, three cups of flour, two teaspoons of baking powder, the yolks of four eggs. Cream the butter and sugar, add the juice of the lemon and the orange rind, the egg yolks, beaten light, the milk and the flour, sifted with the baking powder. Bake in a loaf.

Note—Sunday's recipe for Rhubarb Delight calls for a tablespoon and a half of gelatine instead of one tablespoonful.

On May 13 a special meeting would be called for balloting on a candidate and for a practice for new officers. The recording secretary reported that the provincial Women's Benefit Association rally would be held in Vancouver in the Moose Hall, on May 7. Mrs. Hallberg announced that the ways and means committee would hold their social on May 12, each member being allowed to bring two friends. At this social it was proposed to play cards for one hour, after which a programme of songs and sketches would be arranged for a second hour. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served, the tea hostesses being Mrs. McNichol, Mrs. McKay, Mrs. Nicholson, Miss Moore, and Mrs. Neal.

W.A. of Chemainus
The monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Church of St. Michael and All Angels, was held at the home of Mrs. A. E. P. Stubbs on Thursday, May 30. There were nineteen members present. Mrs. Cave, secretary, was asked to purchase new prayer books for the church. Mrs. Cave was also instructed to send a letter of welcome to Mrs. Rowbatham, of Cumberland, who will shortly take up residence at the new vicarage, Rev. E. O. Rowbatham having been appointed to the parishes of Chemainus, Westholme and Crofton. Final arrangements were made for the sale of work to be held on Friday, May 9, at the residence of Mrs. Gilbert Read. The following ladies were appointed for the different stalls: Mrs. H. E. Knight and Mrs. Thom, work stall; Mrs. Toyne and Mrs. Haver, home cooking; Mrs. Aikens and Mrs. V. Jackson, candy. Several members volunteered to act on the tea committee. A doll's cot will also be drawn for on that day. Those members present were as follows: Mrs. Knight, Mrs. J. P. Chatters, Mrs. Leeson, Mrs. D. Clark, Mrs. N. P. Lang, Mrs. Longridge, Mrs. M. Fraser, Mrs. A. Work, Mrs. P. Porter, Mrs. Underwood, Mrs. Cave, Mrs. Rice, Mrs. J. H. Inglis, Mrs. A. E. P. Stubbs, Mrs. Aiken, Mrs. V. Jackson, Mrs. E. Payne, Mrs. Rayer and Mrs. Toyne.

Langford Guild
The monthly meeting of the members of St. Matthew's Guild was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of the honorary president, Mrs. A. L. Nixon. Rev. A. L. Nixon opened the meeting, and after the secretary's report, preparations for a summer sale of work were made. Mrs. J. E. Macdonald offered her home at Langford Lake for this event, to be held in July. Fancy work was distributed by the Dorcas secretary, Mrs. A. Walker, who will be pleased to take orders for plain or fancy work. Tea was served by Mrs. Nixon, who was presented with a flower and fruit shower by the members. The donors were heartily thanked.

A meeting of the Women's

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

A grey cloud comes through the rainbow mist of pastel colors. The fashion forecast is that it will remain on the style horizon throughout the Spring and Summer. Grey combination with the popular blues and pinks this Spring that it is logical it should be an integral part of the mode. Although its even seen during the evening hours, it is especially prominent in the daytime mode. Grey woollens of fine weaves are outstanding features of the tailored costume, and soft, grey silks with bouffes of navy, or pastel blue or pink, lend charm to the afternoon mode.

Characteristic of this latter idea is the afternoon dress of greyish blue crepe Elizabeth sketched above. The draped neckline emphasizes its flattering effect by a lining of dusty pink georgette. A novel treatment is seen in the way in which wide sections of the skirt—into a dash, which crosses—and ties at the sides.

Modish Costumes for Wear in Afternoon

DEFINITE allure of smart style characterizes this interesting costume created in rich blue silk crepe, No. 1. Smoked pearl buttons accent the chic of the flaring drape at the side and mark the shoulder closing of the white-collared bodice. No. 2—This jacketed three-piece ensemble of navy blue heavy fabric combined with white interprets the simple tailored lines for the younger set. It is shown in a length reaching smartly below the knee. Please a form the entire skirt and smart shirring and colorful tabs accent the tailored blouse. No. 3—Red fox fur and green combine to make this attractive street ensemble. The coat is made in the new eleven-twelfth length and banded generously with fox fur.

PUPILS' RECITAL HEARD BY MANY

A large and enthusiastic audience assembled in the drawing-room of the Y.W.C.A. Friday evening, when the pupils of Miss Beattie Waterhouse, A.T.C.M., were heard in a pianoforte recital.

Miss Dorothy Parsons assisted with two groups of pleasingly rendered vocal solos, and she was presented with a bouquet of flowers by Doris Greene, Marguerite Lowe and Bonita Johnson also assisted with recitations and dancing, and were each presented with a small gift by Jean Clark and Jean Menzies. During the evening little Betty Phelps and Jean Clark presented two charming bouquets, one of pink carnations and roses, and the other of sweet peas and tulips, to Miss Waterhouse, on behalf of her pupils. Those who received prizes for the best written work done since the term started were: Miss Edith White, Irene and Doris Boniface, Alister Troughton, Vera Hodgson and Mary Crawford.

The following pupils took part: Rhoda Walton, Maudellene Rose, Wilma Jones, Barbara Leigh, Marguerite Lowe, Edith White, Gwendoline Walker, Aileen Troughton, Nelda Whitefield, Joyce McCuaig, Vera Main, Beatrice Force, Patricia Clark, Vera Hodgson, Sybil Crawford, Marguerite Underwood, Bonita Johnson, Jean Menzies, Doris Boniface, Doris Greene, Irene Boniface, Mary Crawford, Audrey Weston, Betty and Viola Phelps, Edna Becklerley, Douglas Hawkes, Jean Clark, Hilda Hall and Freda Moss.

ORGANIZE TEA TO HELP SOLARIUM

Dr. C. Wace, medical superintendent of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, Malahat Beach, and Col. "Cy" Peck, V.C., M.P.P., will give short addresses at the silver tea which is to be held by the Allies Chapter of the I.O.D.E. at St. Matthew's Hall, Sidney, this afternoon. The affair has been organized on behalf of the Solarium, in which the Allies Chapter has shown a practical interest ever since its foundation by supplying flowers, fruit, books, toys and required needlework. The affair will be opened by the regent Mrs. P. L. Grassie, at 3 o'clock, and during the afternoon a number of vocal selections will be given by Mrs. Sydney Oliver, of Victoria, who will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Farrow. The chapter is using the occasion also as a "lan shower" on behalf of the Solarium, hopes that friends will remember this.

CIRCULARIZEDDial System Will Entail Revision of All Numbers Used on Victoria Exchange

Notice that all Victoria telephone numbers will be changed at the time the dial system comes into operation here has been given to all Victoria telephone subscribers by the B.C. Telephone Company in a letter which was enclosed with the May telephone bills.

The letter, which is signed by Mr. F. C. Paterson, district commercial superintendent of the company, points out that owing to the growth of Victoria, the city can no longer be served by one telephone exchange and that a second one is therefore being provided. The letter continues: "This is a most favorable opportunity for us to change to the dial method of telephone operation, which is being adopted by the progressive telephone companies throughout the world. Within a few months, therefore, a dial telephone system will take the place of the present system in Victoria."

The company then goes on to explain that the creation of a second exchange and the consequent rearrangement of plant makes it necessary for all telephone numbers in Victoria to be changed, this change to become effective at the time that the dial system comes into use. Subscribers will be notified of their new numbers prior to that time, and a new directory containing the allotted numbers will be delivered.

"Since the letter regarding the number changes went out," Mr. Paterson told The Colonist yesterday afternoon, "I have had a number of calls from people who wish to know if they could not possibly arrange to keep their old numbers, which they have had for a great many years. I have been compelled to tell them that we cannot do anything for them in this regard because it is technically impossible. Each of the new numbers will have a prefix—either Empire or Garden, followed by four figures."

"We are sorry that we have to disturb so many numbers at one time, but there is really no alternative if we are to give Victoria the telephone service it should have."

Gun in Guise
Of Pen Fires
Gas and Slugs

NEW YORK, May 5.—A deadly weapon, which has the outward appearance of a fountain pen, and will shoot either a spray of tear gas or a .38-calibre bullet, was demonstrated by Harry Butts, ballistic expert of the police department at police headquarters here before Commissioner Whalen and newspapermen. It was found on Yea Kim, a Chinese, who was trying to sell them for $10 apiece.

The camouflaged pistol is 5-1/2 inches long and about half an inch in diameter, and can be fired with sufficient force to cause a fatal wound if held close to a human target. It is manufactured by a "gas munitions" concern in Chicago. On the barrel of the "pen" is a spring such as is used in a real fountain pen for filling the reservoir. There is a removable cap on one end, exactly as on a real fountain pen. When the cap is removed the barrel is open at one end.

The cartridge is inserted at the other end. Just inside the open end is a sharp steel obstruction attached to the bottom of the barrel. When the outside spring is pulled up and released it operates another spring at the closed end of the barrel, which strikes the detonating cap of the cartridge and explodes it. As the bullet passes the sharp obstruction it is split in two and the two pieces enter the target with a tumbling, instead of a revolving motion such as imparted by the ordinary pistol. "This is the deadliest weapon of its kind I have ever seen," said Butts. "It can be carried in the vest pocket, just as a fountain pen is carried or up the sleeve in a coat pocket."

is strong and reliable

NEW FEATURES of the Ford truck add to its rugged strength and capable performance. The new rear axle provides long life and unusual reliability. It has a spiral bevel gear of special design, with straddle-mounted pinion. The housing is exceptionally sturdy. Because of the three-quarter floating type of construction, the axle shafts serve only to turn the wheels, without carrying any of the weight of truck or load. A feature which you will find especially desirable is the 4-speed transmission. You will be impressed by the ease with which the Ford truck can climb out of pits, fully loaded, and by the road speed it can maintain with little effort. A large-sized opening is provided in the transmission for power take-off mounting, for use with hoists and other equipment.

Safety of the Ford truck is increased by the new braking system. Front brakes have been enlarged to the same size as those on the rear wheels, providing increased braking area. Controls have been redesigned to operate with minimum effort. Brake-rods are used, assuring you of positive action. Brakes are of the mechanical type, internal expanding, and all are fully enclosed. A simple and effective adjustment is provided on each wheel.

Other new features which add to the value of the Ford truck are the new front axle, which is twice as strong as formerly; the front spring, which has more and wider leaves; the torque-tube drive, which relieves rear springs of all but their normal function of absorbing shocks; and the dual rear wheels, available at small additional cost. Balloon tires of one size are used throughout with the dual equipment, so that all six steel disc wheels and tires are interchangeable all around. Only one spare need be carried.

The Ford truck is available in three types—a speedy truck with 5.14 axle for light loads, a standard 1½-ton truck with 6.6 axle for general haulage, and a heavy-duty 1½-ton truck with 6.6 axle and auxiliary transmission.

ROMANCE APLENTY IN SARAH'S LIFE

Picture "Sarah and Son" Now at Capital, Makes Wide Appeal

Everyone, be he a hardened soldier of fortune, an eight-hour-a-day "white-collar" man, a grim business woman or a chocolate-munching deb, has an appreciation for that inscrutable quality which we know as "mother love."

Ruth Chatterton, who has come to be one of the foremost portrayals of mother-love roles on the talking screen, will give another demonstration of this age-old but ever-interesting quality in her newest talkie, "Sarah and Son," now at the Capitol Theatre all this week. Happily, though, for those who do not like their mother-love without the lighter garnishings of romance, there are lighter garnishings of romance, furnished by Miss Chatterton as the beloved of Frederic March, her handsome leading man. After all, mother love is not the only kind of affection.

COLUMBIA Madeleine Carroll, the THEATRE star of "What Money Can Buy," now showing at the Columbia Theatre, believes in getting information at first hand. In the film in question she was cast for the role of a girl who is "down and out" following a term of imprisonment. To get the correct atmosphere, she spent a night among the homeless unfortunates who find shelter in the crypts of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, at Trafalgar Square. "What Money Can Buy" is based on the popular Lyceum play written by Arthur Shirley and Ben Landick.

VARIETY "The Ghost Chaser," a THEATRE sensation, thrilling mystery-comedy, will be the offering at the Variety Theatre tonight and for the remainder of the week. This recent Broadway hit is one of the most exciting and most laughable plays ever brought to this city. It's so thrilling that it sends cold shivers up and down one's spine. And when the thrills cease, laughter reigns supreme. This is a tremendously gripping play. Variety patrons are sure to like it for its thrilling excitement as well as for its brilliant comedy.

"LOST ZEPPELIN" TO WIN APPROVAL

Huge Dirigible Is Featured In Playhouse Offering This Week

The peril of Commander Byrd and his party in the South Polar regions is strikingly illustrated in "The Lost Zeppelin." Tiffany's great all-talking special, filled with thrills, adventure and romance, which is now being shown at the Playhouse Theatre. Conway Tearle, Virginia Voss and Ricardo Cortez are featured. In this production, "The Lost Zeppelin" deals with a huge dirigible which gets to the antarctic regions and is wrecked in a blizzard. All of those in the party but two perish. The picture shows the appearance of "Little America," as Byrd has named the antarctic continent, and of the grim battle with the elements there.

RARE PHOTOGRAPH IN SHOW OF SHOWS

Fine Feature Is Presented at Dominion With Excellent Settings

With the wide scope and ready mobility possible with the motion picture camera, a new departure in the construction of settings for musical revue is witnessed in "Show of Shows." Warner Brothers' Vitaphone musical extravaganza in technicolor which opened at the Dominion Theatre yesterday for a three-day run. Realizing the tremendous advantages cinematography possesses over the legitimate stage, Darryl Zanuck, who personally produced the pretentious revue, designed and built the sets for the camera lens.

The settings are constructed with greater depth and width than is possible on any known theatrical stage. The cameras, however, photograph the elaborate scenes in all their gorgeous coloring, and the next moment flash to closeups of the stars, making every seat in the theatre a front row seat.

Little Willie—Mamma, is papa going to heaven when he dies? Mother—Why, son, what put such an absurd idea into your head?

The Story Behind the Play

By J. J. GELLER

"THAIS" Early Christianity, after weathering the storms of persecution, often found itself in conflict with pagan sensuality. In 1891 that great French novelist and admirer of paganism, Anatole France, seized upon this theme for his plot of "Thais," and filled it to the hilt with shafts of that genial irony with which he serenely surveyed the world. To make it more penetrating, he gave us the story of a saint who became a sinner and a sinner who changed into a saint.

Needless to say, Anatole France at that day when his book made a fresh appearance in the Parisian book-stalls had achieved a national prominence in his own country, and consequently "Thais" became very widely discussed in the French periodicals, newspapers and salons.

Among those who avidly read the book was one Louis Gallet. His purpose was twofold: he read books as a man of letters and also in his capacity as distinguished librettist who was always on the lookout for operatic themes. "Thais" attracted him as a likeable possibility for the operatic stage, and he hastened to impart this information to his collaborator, Jules Massenet, the composer, who had then returned from Vienna. It was this same Jules Massenet who supported himself during his youth as a kettle drummer in a theatre in order to eke out a mere pittance which, with self-denial, went for his musical studies.

Massenet was completely carried away by Gallet's proposal and already visualized Sissy Sanderson in the role of Thais. Her performance in a previously written opera, "Manon," has established Massenet as a force to be reckoned with in the operatic field, and consequently the songstress was regarded favorably by the composer. At that time "Manon" had almost attained one thousand performances.

The composer set to work at once and in the winter of 1893 "Thais" was placed in rehearsal. Massenet was a trifle uncertain of his efforts

VARIED MUSIC IN BIG "TALKIE"

"Cock Eyed World" Is Presented at Coliseum With Strong Cast

Although the Fox Movietone production, "The Cock Eyed World," is identified as an all-talking production, it is more than that—for it abounds in excellent, varied musical ear treats. Some of the song numbers include "So Dear to Me," sung by Bobby Burns as a theme song; "Elenita," sung by the beautiful Lily Damita who will surprise even her most ardent admirers, and "So Long," a marching song for marines.

In the matter of incidental music heard from the screen, no picture yet directed by Raoul Walsh has evidenced more mastery of detail than "The Cock Eyed World," which is doing exceptional business now at the Coliseum Theatre.

The evolution of the story by Laurence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson, famed writers of "What Price Glory," shows Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen as two hard-boiled Marines in the service during peace times and in various countries.

THE BIG BABY CRIED FOR FILMS

(Special to The Colonist. Copyright, 1930.)

LONDON, May 5.—A crying baby in a bachelor's apartment caused a mild scandal here the other day.

It happened in one of the expensive flats of the West End, when residents became surprised at the cries of a baby issuing from the bachelor's rooms. When the cries persisted for several days, the surprise deepened into suspicion, and, armed with some trivial excuse, a neighbor called on the bachelor to find out the cause of the trouble. As soon as he entered the apartment, however, the cries ceased, and no sign of a baby was to be seen.

The following two or three days, the cries of a baby in anguish continued to arouse the curiosity of the whole district, until finally it got the better of a nearby feminine neighbor, who adopted other tactics and demanded to know where the baby was.

To her amazement, she found the bachelor pacing up and down the room emitting childish cries as he walked. Suspicion immediately turned into alarm, and the kindly neighbor called up the police to have the "insane" man removed to an asylum.

A few moments later, three attendants presented themselves at the door to take the man away. He looked at them in astonishment, and suddenly burst out in a roar of laughter.

He explained that, owing to obvious difficulties with real babies in talking picture productions, he had been engaged by a film company to "cry the baby parts," and was merely doing his practising at home.

A man went into Cohen's bookstore and asked for a copy of "Who's Who" and "What's What," by Jerome K. Jerome. "Haven't got dot book," said Cohen, "but we haf 'Who's He and Who's He Got,' by Bradstreet."

SYNOPSIS

Don Jaime Miguel Higuera, the owner of a ranch in Texas, is having difficulty with a shearer, Tom Antrim, and war to the latter and has been declared between them. Captain Ken Hobart, of the Texas Rangers, who is visiting his cousin to be Don Jaime's manager, warns his employer of his danger. Don Jaime's mind, however, dwells on other things. He has fallen in love with a picture which he has seen in a fashionable magazine. A picture of Miss Roberta Antrim, a society belle of Westchester. Don Jaime is attacked from ambush and shoots it out with his opponent. Ken Hobart, Don Jaime's manager, had found Roberta's picture and address in Uncle Tom's pocket, and she accordingly had been notified. Roberta, who lives with her uncle, "Crooked Bill" Lathrop, on a small, isolated place. She considers going to Texas to take care of her interests.

CHAPTER IX

The assistant general manager of the Rancho Valle Verde walked into the vine-enclosed veranda where Don Jaime lay at ease in his chaise longue, while a nurse, almost old enough to be his mother, sat in an adjacent chair knitting.

"Well, how's the boss, Mrs. Ganby?" Ken Hobart queried.

"His wounds have all healed by first intention," the nurse answered. "I should say he'll be up and around again in a month. Probably lame for a month or two thereafter. At any rate he loses no next week."

Don Jaime, who had been lying down, presently he looked up his black eyes.

"Don Prudencio Alvizo writes me that he has been engaged by Miss Antrim as attorney for the estate; that Miss Antrim has given the Federal Trust a check in payment of the notes it held against the estate and the bank had resigned as co-executor. Old Prudy writes to thank me for sending him the business. He tells me that with his appointment he received a retainer of a thousand dollars and instructions to secure a good man to count those sheep. He suggests you, old leather-face, and I second the nomination, which is tantamount to election where Judge Aurelio Vasquez is concerned. Miss Antrim says she's going to leave everything in her lawyer's hands, with instructions to consult with me on whatever we two decide to do will meet with her approval. She says she dreads coming down here in summer and she has accepted many engagements of a social nature."

"Who is Miss Antrim?" the nurse inquired.

"The niece and heir of the man Antrim I killed after he'd busted me, Mrs. Ganby."

"And you are her adviser—she's friendly with you?"

"Oh, she doesn't know I bumped old Tom off. I wrote her a chap named Jim Higgins had done it."

Ken Hobart chuckled.

"That's his gringo alias, Mrs. Ganby. The first Higuera to be heard of in Spain was called James Michael Higgins. But the Spaniards gave it a Spanish twist—the 'i' has the sound of 'e' in Spanish and they have a habit of adding 'es' to things. Sometimes they say sheeps or sheeps as the plural of sheep, for instance. So with the passage of time James Michael Higgins, the big Mick, developed into Jaime Miguel Higuera. When did that happen, Don Jaime?"

"When the first J. M. married a red-headed Spanish woman who insisted on spelling the name as it was pronounced. My ancestor did not object. So the tribe of Higuera was born. The family migrated to Mexico in the nineteenth century, and my great-grandfather married the daughter of an Irishman who owned this rancho. That brought the Celtic strain up a little. My grandfather added to it by marrying a girl who was half Irish, and when he looked at his offspring he was glad he'd done it. He noticed the cross had increased the height, breadth, general appearance, industry, and temper of the Higuera tribe. We looked much more like black Irish than Mexicans now, and luck holds and he should have the honor of entertaining Miss Roberta Antrim and her duenna."

"She'll not have a duenna."

"Oh, yes, she will. You'll supply that lack. Don Jaime is very tactful and formal."

"Why is he so interested in the niece of this vicious old man he had to kill?"

"Because Don Jaime Miguel Higuera is a romantic Mick, that's why. He saw a full-page photograph of her in the 'Suburban Gentleman'."

"Oh, dear, he's quite hopeless! She may photograph beautifully even with red hair, freckles and green eyes, but she may also be mean and selfish and irritating; she may be without manners."

"Mrs. Ganby wrote a note to the people with whom she boarded her crippled son and gave it to Hobart, together with the address. When he repaired to his quarters to array himself for the evening, Mrs. Ganby returned to her patient."

"What a charming man your Mr. Hobart is, Don Jaime!" she began. "He'll do a perfect—laconically. 'He is very devoted to your interests.'"

Don Jaime did not answer. His glance was out through the arched gateway, from which the road ran straight down the valley. A mile away a dust cloud was gathering on that road, and he knew it was "Somebody is coming in a hurry," he murmured. "When they hurry it's always bad news."

A horseman galloped up, threw himself off and hurried up the steps. "Well, my friend," Don Jaime queried, "what evil message do you bring and from whom?"

"Thirty riders crossed the Rio Grande at daylight, sir. They are rounding up several hundred of the senora's cattle. It is a raid."

"My thanks are due to you, my friend. They will not get far. Who sent you here?"

"The American customs agent at Los Alamos, Don Jaime. He bids you send your riders to head them off before they recross the river with your cattle."

"Return and tell him I have but forty men available. The others are attending a baile at the Rancho Verdugo. Forty men will be sufficient, I think. Return to the agent and tell him that my men will start in ten minutes, perhaps less."

The men galloped away. Don Jaime smoked contentedly, while Mrs. Ganby watched him with curiosity. Presently Ken Hobart came to announce his impending departure.

"Delay it until tomorrow, Ken," his employer ordered casually. "I have a job for you." And he recounted the tale brought by his visitor. "Take forty men and ride for the river. If this man's tale is the truth you will have work there. I think, however, he lies. Have Caraveo and the other men and instruct him to have them remain in the barns with their horses until I send him word that he is going to be needed."

"A plant, eh?"

"I've been expecting reprisal, Ken. I told this messenger that I had but forty men available, but would send them immediately. Go with them. We shall see what we shall see. I smell sheep."

Hobart departed, and Don Jaime turned to Mrs. Ganby. "Please tell Plavio to assist me to enter my house," he said. "There is more dust to the south. We shall have visitors—about ten, I think."

The old "peon" picked Don Jaime up, carried him inside and laid him on a sofa. Then he departed casually.

"You will oblige me by bolting that door, Mrs. Ganby," Don Jaime requested gently.

Presently came the sound of hurrying feet on the veranda, and through the iron-barred tiny window that gave out on the veranda Mrs. Ganby saw men standing about. There came a rap on the door.

"Who's there?" a rough voice commanded. "We want you."

"Ah, Bill Dingle. I have been expecting you, ever since you so thoughtfully sent one of your men with a false cry of raiders from below the border. I sent forty men. Your look-out saw them ride out, and when they had passed, you decided to come to my hacienda, deserted save for the women and children, and kill me in some unpleasant manner. Is it not so?"

There was no answer to this and Don Jaime's mocking laugh floated through the window. "Now, Dingle, consider the situation. A hundred armed men surround this poor house of mine. Go to the patio entrance and look out."

A murmuring rose among the recent arrivals, and one of them ran to the entrance to the patio. A volley of curses echoed through the garden, then the man came running back.

"Is seeing believing, Senor Dingle?" Don Jaime called pleasantly. "You win, Higuera."

"One by one you will go to the entrance and give up your arms to my riding boss. It would be madness to resist. You shall not be killed and presently you shall all return to your sheep—I mean sheep. Forward! March!"

A moment's hesitation, and the retreat to the entrance commenced. A few minutes later Enrico Caraveo thrust a smiling, sardonic face up to the grilled window.

"I have the honor to inform Don Jaime that his visitors await his pleasure."

"Confine them to the barn under guard. Feed them."

Mrs. Ganby, white-faced, speechless with terror, watched Don Jaime blowing smoke rings.

"Don Jaime Higuera," she demanded, "after that exhibition of ingratitude on the part of these sheepmen, are you still going to permit them to trespass on your range?"

Don Jaime raised a deprecating hand. "An Higuera," he assured her, "does not quarrel with a woman."

Ganby's eyes blazed. "Now, at least," she declared, "I know why Cervantes wrote Don Quixote. Only a Spaniard could have conceived such a character and only a Spaniard could—could—"

"Senora," Don Jaime protested, "my name is Jimmy Higgins."

"Is seeing believing, Senor Dingle?" Don Jaime called pleasantly. "You win, Higuera."

"One by one you will go to the entrance and give up your arms to my riding boss. It would be madness to resist. You shall not be killed and presently you shall all return to your sheep—I mean sheep. Forward! March!"

A moment's hesitation, and the retreat to the entrance commenced. A few minutes later Enrico Caraveo thrust a smiling, sardonic face up to the grilled window.

"I have the honor to inform Don Jaime that his visitors await his pleasure."

"Confine them to the barn under guard. Feed them."

Mrs. Ganby, white-faced, speechless with terror, watched Don Jaime blowing smoke rings.

"Don Jaime Higuera," she demanded, "after that exhibition of ingratitude on the part of these sheepmen, are you still going to permit them to trespass on your range?"

Don Jaime raised a deprecating hand. "An Higuera," he assured her, "does not quarrel with a woman."

Ganby's eyes blazed. "Now, at least," she declared, "I know why Cervantes wrote Don Quixote. Only a Spaniard could have conceived such a character and only a Spaniard could—could—"

"Senora," Don Jaime protested, "my name is Jimmy Higgins."

PRIESTS ORDAINED

OTTAWA, May 3.—Officiating with the full powers of his bishop's office for the first time since his consecration last Thursday, Mr. Joseph Guy, apostolic vicar of Broad, ordained to the priesthood today sixteen Oblate Fathers of Ottawa East Scholasticate.

A murmuring rose among the recent arrivals, and one of them ran to the entrance to the patio. A volley of curses echoed through the garden, then the man came running back.

"Is seeing believing, Senor Dingle?" Don Jaime called pleasantly. "You win, Higuera."

"One by one you will go to the entrance and give up your arms to my riding boss. It would be madness to resist. You shall not be killed and presently you shall all return to your sheep—I mean sheep. Forward! March!"

Hundreds of Farmers Will See Beauties of Victoria

Great Northern Railway Arranges Twelve Tours on Twenty-Four Trains for Agriculturists of Dakota, New York, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin

The tired business man and the school teacher is to have nothing on some three thousand farmers of the Middle West and East this summer. The farmers are going to take a vacation themselves and spend a couple of weeks frolicking around the playgrounds of the Pacific Northwest, as far as Victoria.

Twelve separate tours, sponsored by farm publications, and traveling in "de luxe" trains, are scheduled to move over the Great Northern Railway during the summer, according to Mr. A. H. Hebb, local agent.

While railways have handled blocks of special trains for fraternal orders and the like, the twenty-four trains that will be required to handle the twelve farm tours will be a record breaker in the movement of farmers, Mr. Hebb said.

Quite incidentally, Mr. Hebb revealed that in accepting the movement of these trains, the Great Northern had assumed responsibility for showing away all realtors and promoters.

"These farmers, as I understand it," said Mr. Hebb, "want to forget all about farm relief, overproduction and kindred matters. They are out for a good time, a change of scenery and a bit of mountain and sea air."

The farmer visitors will explore glaciers and climb the mountain peaks at Glacier National Park, then move on to Spokane, visit the apple country around Wenatchee, see Portland, where the roses grow, inspect the lumber mills at Longview and look over Tacoma and Seattle. From there they proceed to Victoria and make the return trip through Canada as far as Winnipeg.

The largest of the twelve farm tours will be the Jayhawkers, sponsored by The Kansas Farmer of Topeka, Kan. This will require four special trains, with more than 500 farmers and their families aboard.

The other tours are: Dakota Farmer, golden jubilee tour, sponsored by The Dakota Farmer of Aberdeen, South Dakota, comprising approximately 200 persons.

Michigan Farmer tour, sponsored by The Michigan Farmer of Detroit, Mich.; 200 persons.

Rural New Yorker coast to coast tour, sponsored by The Rural New Yorker of New York City; 200 persons.

Cornhusker tour, sponsored by The Nebraska Farmer of Lincoln, Neb.; 400 persons.

Wisconsin Agriculturist and Farmer tour, sponsored by The Wisconsin Agriculturist and Farmer of Racine, Wis.; 200 persons.

Prairie Farmer tour, sponsored by The Prairie Farmer of Chicago, Ill.; 400 persons.

Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman tour, sponsored by The Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; 200 persons.

Ohio Farmer tour, sponsored by The Ohio Farmer of Cleveland, Ohio; 250 persons.

Pennsylvania Farmer tour, sponsored by The Pennsylvania Farmer of Pittsburgh, Pa.; 300 persons.

Shenandoah-Cumberland Valley Apple Growers' tour, sponsored by

The Evening Journal, of Martinsburg, West Va.; 350 persons.

"Know Mississippi, Better" tour, sponsored by state officials of Mississippi; 300 persons.

Observers saw two possibilities in this statement holds good. One is that at a meeting of directors called for Monday, directors representing the Cyrus S. Eaton interests may be ousted. Mr. Eaton is leader of the anti-merger forces. At a recent directors' meeting, four members, including Mr. Eaton, were elected to represent his interests.

The other question is the ability or willingness of merger opponents to continue a long legal battle while millions of dollars worth of their stock was drawing no income from dividends.

One day Napoleon III was talking with Empress Eugenie. As she talked without thinking of what she said, Napoleon said with a little laugh, "Do you know, madam, the difference between a mirror and yourself?"

"No," she responded.

"Well, my dear, the difference is that the mirror reflects without speaking, and you speak without reflecting."

"And you, sir, do you know the difference between a mirror and yourself?"

"No," responded Napoleon, in his turn.

"Well, the mirror is polished."

DOUGHNUTS

3 eggs 1 cup milk
1 cup sugar 4 cups flour
2 tablespoons melted butter 2 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder
1 cup sweet cream 2 teaspoon salt

Mix together butter, sugar and beaten eggs, beat till smooth, then add cream and milk gradually, then flour, baking powder and salt which have been sifted together. If too soft, add a little more flour to roll out, cut in rings and fry in deep fat.

GRIDDLE CAKES

1 quart flour 2 tablespoons shortening
3 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder 1 egg
1 teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons molasses
2 tablespoons sugar 1 pint milk

Mix and sift dry ingredients; beat egg, add milk and molasses, pour slowly on first mixture; beat well. Add melted shortening. Cook at once on hot, well-greased griddle. Serve with maple, caramel or brown sugar syrup.

MUFFINS

1 tablespoon butter 3 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder
2 tablespoons sugar 1 egg
2 eggs 1 teaspoon salt
2 cups flour 1 cup sweet milk

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs one by one, beat well. Sift dry ingredients together and add to first mixture alternately with milk. If batter not stiff enough, add a little more flour. Put in well greased muffin pans and bake for 20 minutes in a quick oven.

Of course, to get the best results, you should always use MAGIC BAKING POWDER. The kind that three out of every four Canadian housewives,* who bake at home, say they use, because it gives consistently better baking results.

*This fact was revealed in a recent Dominion-wide investigation.

If you bake at home, the New Magic Cook Book will provide you with dozens of interesting recipes that will save you time. Send us your name and a copy will be mailed free.

Look for this mark on every tin. It is our guarantee that Magic Baking Powder does not contain alum or any harmful ingredients.

Mix ingredients, being careful not to deviate in any way from the Magic Cook Book recipe. Baking powder is most important ingredient, but too much or too little may hazard results.

Now the mixture is ready for the frying pan. Be sure to have the deep fat at just the right degree of heat, and keep it that way until the doughnuts are deliciously browned.

The finished product done to a turn. Tempting looking food all ready to serve! You will feel justly proud to place this dish before anyone, confident of instant appreciation.

QUALICUM BEACH, May 5.—On Saturday, Miss Aileen Gillan, Joe Hodgson and Masters Maurice and Henry Montgomery, all students of the high school here, motored to Courtenay, accompanied by Mr. A. Taylor, master of the high school, to take part in the sports, leaving Qualicum Beach about 9 a.m., and enjoying the drive. They had lunch, after which the sports commenced. Qualicum locals were not successful in carrying off any of the prizes, but had a most enjoyable time. While at Courtenay they met one of Qualicum's late masters, Mr. H. Ferguson, who is on the staff of the Courtenay school.

WILL FINANCE NEW FACILITY AT COURTENAY

Up-Island Board of Trade Impressed With Possibilities of Ogden Point Plant

GROWERS AGREE TO PLANT VEGETABLES

"Having no facilities at present in the district for receipt of fruit and vegetables, where they can be graded and made ready for the market, the Courtenay Board of Trade has promised to finance the building of a receiving shed, so as to enable the farmers of the section to get their produce to the Ogden Point plant in good shape," Mr. H. G. Brown, president of the Victoria Cold Storage & Terminal Warehouse, Limited, stated yesterday on his return from addressing an overflow meeting in Courtenay on Friday night last, which was attended by farmers from all sections of the valley.

Mr. Brown spoke of the advantages of an all-year market for fresh vegetables, and exhibited samples which had been in the Victoria plant for the past eight months. Mr. W. W. Duncan, market commissioner for British Columbia, addressed the meeting on "Successful Marketing Methods." A committee was formed following the meeting, and a number of growers undertook to plant peas, beans and corn, principally the latter, the district around Comox being particularly adapted to the growing of a high grade of corn.

The meeting at Courtenay was agreed that Victoria is the natural outlet for the products of Vancouver Island, provided transportation was available, and appreciated the desirability of an island-wide organization, growing vegetables and fruits to a certain standard, under a common trade name.

Mr. Brown was greatly impressed with the possibilities of the Comox district for the raising of all manner of farm products, especially vegetables. He expects to speak at Duncan, Cobble Hill, Sooke and other points in the near future, tentative arrangements being already under way to have him address meetings at the places mentioned.

Grains of Wheat and Rice Shot from Huge Guns

To make them twice as delicious... twice as digestible

How exploding 125 million food cells makes Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice as nourishing as hot cooked cereals.

HAVE you tasted this utterly different kind of cereal... Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice... the crispest, crunchiest cereal on the market today?

Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice are different because they're made differently. Choice full-flavored grains of wheat and rice are sealed in huge bronze guns. Then revolved in fiery ovens. This expands the natural moisture in the millions of tiny food cells. Then the grains are fired. Causing 125 million explosions in every grain.

Every tiny food cell is blasted open. The grains are made as completely digestible as though they had been cooked for hours. Hence Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice are virtually as nourishing as hot cooked cereals.

These grains "shot from guns" become 8 times normal size. They have all the buttery crispness of fresh toast. They taste like sweet new nut-meats. Never before was rich grain nourishment made so delectably good to eat. Order Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice from your grocer today. The Quaker Oats Company.

Vancouver Pioneers To Go to Nanaimo

NANAIMO, May 5.—The Vancouver Pioneers' Association, who held their annual outing in Nanaimo last year, enjoyed themselves so much and had such a good reception by Nanaimolites, have decided to have its outing in Nanaimo again this year.

Mr. W. H. Evans, president of the association, and Mr. J. H. Cocking, vice-president and chairman of the picnic committee, were in town yesterday making the necessary arrangements for the outing, which it is expected will be held on June 11.

The Veterans' Corner

The eleventh annual picnic of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Victoria Unit No. 12, will be held at Deep Cove on July 1. The next general meeting of the unit will be held on May 15, while the finance and executive committees will meet on May 13.

Every slice, even the quarter-pound size, bears the name "Kraft Canadian" on the foil wrapper and you can return any unasked for, inferior substitute immediately.

You don't have to wait until the error is discovered by you or your guests when the Cheese is on the table.

Be sure that the name "Kraft Canadian" appears on the foil when you buy cheese, then you'll never be disappointed.

Only in KRAFT is "Cave-Cured" flavor available

In the cool, deep, wind-blown caves of Southern France, many years ago, the piquant, rare flavor of "cave-cured" cheese was first produced.

There, subtle variations of moisture and changing temperatures assisted nature in her unhurried task of perfecting the time-mellowed "cave-cured" cheese that became the delight of epicures the world over.

Now in Canada, cheese lovers are offered this rare treat! For Kraft has re-created the ideal conditions of the famous caves of Southern France and Kraft's "cave-cured" cheese is now available to everyone, everywhere. Ask for it at your grocer. Kraft Canadian in the famous 5 pound loaf and in half-pound packages.

The name "Kraft" appears on every slice of Kraft Cheese. It is the only positive identification of the genuine.

SCOTT, STRIBLING TO MEET JUNE 2

Heavyweights Will Mix in Twelve-Round Bout at London for British Championship

PARIS, May 5.—A contract signed by Phil Scott and calling for the English boxing champion to meet "Young" Stribling, American heavyweight, in London, June 2, in a twelve-round bout, was received by Jeff Dickson, American promoter, today after three weeks of negotiations. It had been announced previously from London that Stribling and Scott were to fight, June 10.

SCHMELING ARRIVES FOR SHARKEY MIX

German Heavyweight to Apply to New York Commission for Reinstatement Today

PRINCIPALS TO GET 25 PER CENT OF GATE

NEW YORK, May 5.—Max Schmeling wasted no time today as far as exercise was concerned. The German heavyweight, who arrived from the Fatherland Sunday, took advantage of the sunny day to get in eighteen holes of golf. Schmeling will appear before the State Athletic Commission tomorrow to apply for reinstatement to fight Jack Sharkey, in the Yankee Stadium, June 12, for the world title.

The reinstatement is a formality inasmuch as the title bout already has been officially approved by the state officials.

The German will sign articles at the commission's offices for the match as soon as he is reinstated. He is to receive 25 per cent of the receipts. Sharkey will share similarly in the proceeds.

GREETED BY BIG CROWD

Looking more than ever like the Jack Dempsey of ten years ago, the smiling young Teuton bowed his way into the United States yesterday through lanes of shouting countrymen, sold German citizens and their frau, who gathered 4,000 strong on the pier of the liner New York. The air was filled with guttural "Hocks" and "Hurrah Hooks" and the German youth was vastly pleased and considerably mauled before he could get away.

The suave, poised youth who chose deliberately to mix with the crowd rather than sneak ashore and avoid the cheering countrymen who must have risen at dawn to greet the early boat, was a strange contrast to the shy, frightened youngster who slipped unannounced into New York for the first time two years ago.

With his German manager, $10 and ten words of English between them, Schmeling then set out quietly to win a place among the top ranking heavyweights. He knocked out Joe Monte, best Joe Sekyra and became an overnight sensation by toppling rugged Johnny Rasko. Then he whipped Paulino Uzcudun, became entangled in controversies with managers and promoters and sailed disgustedly for home.

Now he is back to fight Jack Sharkey in the Yankee Stadium, June 12, for the heavyweight title that has been vacant since Gene Tunney retired two years ago. He carried nineteen pieces of luggage with him this trip, several companions, German newspapermen, a Duchaud pup and a half dozen cuckoo clocks that caught his eye one day in a shop in Berlin.

HAS BIG WARDROBE
It is the personal improvement in Schmeling, however, that is so noticeable. He shakes hands and mixes with all the aplomb and self-assurance of Dempsey, most popular of all champions, talks freely and excitedly in fairly good English, and is interested in everyone and everything. The single suit and plain shirts, some of brown khaki, have been replaced by twenty tailored ensembles that run tastefully from light and dark grays down through blues and browns. He is a sartorial picture.

Schmeling appeared to be in perfect condition, tanned a dark brown and weighing 190 pounds, as compared with his fighting weight of 187. He had a pleasant trip across and trained every day. After becoming acclimated, a word he struggled with until he finally mastered it—he will leave Tuesday for his training camp at Johnson City, near Birmingham, N.Y., to start light training with half a dozen sparring partners.

Max says he will beat Sharkey—how, he won't know until he gets in the ring. A year's layoff won't hurt him because he is only twenty-four and has boxed 104 rounds of exhibitions since shipping Paulino here last June. He is excited about his brief career as a movie hero in a German picture but doesn't plan to

Garage Ball LEAGUE WILL OPEN TONIGHT

Beggs and Dodges to Hook Up in Season's Opener at Royal Athletic Park at 6 o'clock

PRESIDENT WILL TWIRL FIRST BALL

The 1930 season with the Victoria Garage Baseball League will get under way at the Royal Athletic Park tonight at 6 o'clock when the Begs Motor Company representatives make their debut against A. E. Humphries Motors, Limited. Bobby Ross, a member of the Eagles Club in the Senior Amateur Baseball League, will be the official umpire. The curtain will go up on the second season when President Horace Gladding twirls the first ball. The new head of the league is reported to be in good shape for the ceremony following weeks of practice in the backyard.

Bill Bridgwood, veteran slab artist, has been named to go to the hillock for the Begs, while Robillard will be at the receiving end. Ed Miles, first string twirler for the Dodges, will oppose Bridgwood in the initial fracas, with Wilkinson completing the Dodges battery.

More than $500,000 has been paid by the big league clubs in the ten years to Tom Turner, owner and manager of the Portland club, for young players developed by him.

LOCAL 'Y' DOES WELL AT EVERETT

Y.M.C.A. Aquatic Stars Finish in Second Place in Junior Events in Northwest Championships

Considering that they only had four representatives in the meet, as compared with three and four times that many from other cities, the local Y.M.C.A. aquatic squad did remarkably well at the annual "Y" Pacific Northwest swimming championships held at Everett, Wash., Saturday afternoon and evening.

Victoria carried off second place honors in the junior events with a fine total of 22 points. Archie McKinnon, physical director, who accompanied the lads, stated yesterday that he was more than pleased with their performance as they were competing against some of the strongest swimmers in the Northwest. Victoria only competed in the junior races.

Denny Walker, the local flash, showed the way to the other Canadian and United States competitors in the fifty-yard freestyle event, which he captured in 26.2 seconds. Walker also won the 220 free style in 2 minutes, 52 seconds.

Red McMinnis swam at a steady pace to capture the 100-yard breast stroke in 39.2 seconds. Bill Findlay, another local "Y" man, was third.

Kinnon's relay team, comprised of Walker, McKinnis, Rains and Findlay, finished in second place, five seconds behind the strong Tacoma squad. The showing of the local boys is due to the splendid tutoring of Coach Colin McFayden, who was unable to make the trip.

The standing of the junior team was as follows: Everett, 32; Victoria, 22; Everett, 8; Eugene, Ore., 7; Seattle, 3; Portland, 2; Vancouver and Bellingham failed to get a point.

BIG SIX BATTERS MAKE TIDY GAINS

Ruth Only Member of Select Half-Dozen to Slip—Clell and Simmons Move Up

The Big Six batters redeemed themselves yesterday after poor showing Sunday, taking advantage of the day of heavy slugging either to improve or hold their major league batting averages. Paul Waner, the pace-setter, got two hits in four times at bat to maintain his average of .500. Bill Clell and Al Simmons, however, improved their standings, the former boosting his mark to .400 and the latter to .397. Babe Ruth dropped a peg when he fanned three times and grounded out on his fourth appearance against the White Sox. Hornsby was rained out in the first inning, while Fisher was also idle. The standing: G. A. B. R. H. P. A. E. Waner, Pirates, 16 60 15 30 500 Clell, White Sox, 14 60 14 24 406 Simmons, Athletics, 13 63 17 15 397 Fisher, Cardinals, 18 63 13 27 426 Ruth, Yankees, 15 58 15 19 332 Hornsby, Cubs, 13 39 4 10 256

NEW FOUL RULING TO BE TRIED OUT

Fields and Thompson Agree to Substitute Five-Minute Rest for Decision in Case of Low Blow

DETROIT, May 5.—For the first time in fight history an agreement has been reached to eliminate the danger of a malodorous decision on a foul in the championship bout. The management of Olympia Stadium, where Jackie Fields will defend his welterweight crown Friday night against Young Jack Thompson, San Francisco negro, announced tonight the managers of both fighters had agreed to substitute a five-minute rest period for a decision in case of a foul.

Tomorrow the Michigan Boxing Commission meets here to consider such a ruling. A favorable decision is anticipated since James "Bingo" Brown, chairman, expressed himself as favorably impressed with the suggestion, which emanated from "Gag" Rooney, Fields' manager. It was after Rooney's announcement that he would request a "no foul" ruling by the commission that Ray Alviz, Thompson's manager, let it be known he not only would accede to such a ruling but would join in the request.

DUNCAN DEFEATS SONS OF CANADA

Chalk Up 12-5 Victory in Exhibition Ball Game at Up-Island—Noble Quits Homer

DUNCAN, May 5.—Duncan's ball tossers took kindly to the offerings of Whitehead and Haynes, Sons of Canada's southpaw pitchers, and pounded out a 12-5 victory at Evans' Park, here, yesterday. Sixteen hits were collected to swell the batting averages of the local players, while the visitors' fielders added to the joy by contributing eight errors. Only foolish base-running by the Duncan team prevented a larger score. Six hits were all that the Sons could gather off Duncan, Weeks and Robinson, one of these being a home run off Noble's bat in the ninth frame, after two men were down. The feature of the game was a pretty triple in the fifth inning, when McDonald, ss, touched second to get Holman's bat, touched second to get Bacon off the bag, and snapped the ball to Zacherell on first to complete the play. Duncan played ragged ball around the keystone bag in the early part of the game and the visitors ran up a lead of 8 to 1, but the homesters played snappy ball after, and outplayed the Sons in every department of the game.

NEGRO ACTOR TO PLAY OTHELLO

Colored Man to Appear as Famous Moor in Shakespearean Tragedy

LONDON, Eng., May 5.—Paul Robeson, the negro actor, will be seen at the Globe Theatre as Othello this month. To British audiences this colored man from the United States is best known as the singer of "Old Man River," in the production of "Show Boat" at Drury Lane last year, and for his remarkable performance in the part named after Eugene O'Neill's "The Emperor Jones" when it was produced at the Ambassador Theatre in 1925. Maurice Brown will direct the production of the play "Othello," in which Miss Sybil Thormdike will be the Emilia, Miss Peggy Ashcroft the Desdemona, Maurice Brown the Iago and Max Montrose the Cassio. James Pryde, member of the International Society of Sculptors, Painters and Gravers, who hitherto has refused all offers to do scenic work for the theatre, has agreed to design the settings and costumes.

HISTORY OF U.S. TOLD BY COOLIDGE IN 500 WORDS

WASHINGTON, May 5.—A part of Calvin Coolidge's 500-word history of the United States—beginning "In the year of our Lord 1776 the people declared the eternal right to seek happiness—self government and the divine duty to defend that right at any sacrifice"—was made public recently by Gulton Borglum, sculptor and member of the South Dakota congressional delegation. The history, to be inscribed in letters that may be seen for miles on the rocks off the Black Hills in South Dakota, continued: "In 1787 assembled in convention they made a charter of perpetual union of free people of sovereign states establishing a government of limited powers—under an independent president—congress and court charged to provide security for all citizens in their enjoyment of liberty—equality and justice." Only the first two portions of the Coolidge history were made public by Borglum and the delegation after a visit to President Hoover at the White House. The history is a part of a gigantic memorial to be carved under the direction of Borglum upon the solid rock of Mount Rushmore in the Dakota hills.

TOURISTS NOW VIEW PIRATE RENDEZVOUS FROM SEATS IN BUS

ALGIERS, May 5.—Algiers, once the rendezvous of the pirates who made the "Barbary Coast" feared by every sailor, is peacefully welcoming the world this year to celebrate its siege and capture and the conquest of Algeria by the French 100 years ago. The "Barbary Coast," picturesque as ever, is civilized now, and big sightseeing cars travel the several thousand miles of hard, smooth roads that run from ancient Carthage on the east coast of Tunisia, through the land of the Roman ruins in Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco, along and through the Atlas Mountains to Rabat, Casablanca and beautiful old Marrakech. Moors, Berbers and Arabs, descendants of those who conquered Spain and much of Southern France in the Middle Ages, live much as they did a thousand years ago. Tractors till the fields, but the Arabs live much in tents, as they always have. Casablanca is a European city, but elsewhere Europe, as yet, has put little impress on North Africa, and tourists from over the world find these places the least "touristy" of any. Perhaps the one score on which the natives are thoroughly modern is money. They have learned the price of labor, and their traditional method of asking for more than they expect for their carpets, leatherware, hammered copper, basketwork and mosaics serves them well, for they can out-bargain most of the visitors. There are more Roman ruins to be seen here than in Italy. The cities and aqueducts built at Cherchell and scores of other places during six centuries, were destroyed by war and weather, but much remains. There was so much space that the successors of the Romans seldom built over the Roman cities but started anew.

Gifted Young Artists Will Give Programme

An event which will be of interest to music lovers is a recital to be given under the distinguished patronage of His Honor Chief Justice and Mrs. J. A. MacDonald, His Worship the Mayor and Mrs. Anson and the Victoria Ladies' Musical Club, by two of Victoria's talented young artists, Miss Dorothy Morton, pianist, and Mrs. Harry Johns, soprano. These artists have been heard with much pleasure on former occasions, and the recital which they will present in the Shrine auditorium on June 3 promises to be of high artistic merit.

In the play of the above deal by South at Spades, East and West, or rather East, saves game by good defense.

West opened the Queen of Hearts, the top of a three-card suit in which he held two honors in sequence.

The Dummy going down, South (Declarer) played the Ace from Dummy and led the three of Spades, East playing the two, South then led the King of Spades, West discarding the five of Clubs, Dummy playing the six of Spades and East winning with the Ace.

At this point East stops to consider the situation. West, in leading the Queen of Hearts, must also hold the Jack, but does not hold either the ten or nine, because both of such cards are in plain sight to East in his own hand and the exposed Dummy; therefore he infers that West has led from a short Heart suit, as had he more than three Hearts his preferential lead would have been his fourth best from a Q-J combination lacking both the ten and nine. If this be the case, then South must hold at least four Hearts.

So considered, East, after winning with the Ace of Spades, leads the four of Clubs, because if West holds the King, this play will either set up one or more Club tricks before South can establish a long Heart, or will force South to trump if South is short in Clubs.

To the lead of the four of Clubs, South plays the Three, West the King and South from Dummy the Ace.

As may be seen, South is now unable to go game. If he lead out two more rounds of trumps to exhaust East's and try three leads of Diamonds in hopes that the Diamond suit will break, he will find that West has protected this suit, taking his cue from East's lead of the four of Clubs to discard Clubs upon South's trump leads instead of letting go one of his four Diamonds.

If South, whether before or after leading Diamonds, tries to set a long Heart lead with his ten, or if partner plays the Jack, East will overtake with his King, and lead the Queen of Clubs, forcing South's last trump with his long suit still unestablished.

As may be noted, South will go game if East, after winning with the Ace of Spades, continues with Hearts, as in such event South will make four Spade tricks, three Diamond tricks, one Club trick and two Heart tricks, or ten in all.

SALENT POINTS OF THE BIDDING
Auction—South opens the bidding with one Spade. West passing, North takes out with one No Trump. East passing, South bids two Spades, not only because his suit is worth a rebid, but because of his suit type of distribution.

It will be noted in this connection that North and South cannot possibly go game at No Trumps, but can go game at Spades except against expert defense.

Contract—The bidding in Contract starts as in Auction—South bidding one Spade, West passing and North taking out with but one No Trump.

It will be noted that had North's 2½ high card tricks been sufficiently supplemented, he would or should take out in Contract with two No Trumps. East passing, South rebids his Spades, bidding but two instead of three to feel out the strength of North's take-out.

West passing, North now assists South by bidding three Spades, which, East passing, South carries to four.

THE PLAY
The play of this hand by South at Spades has been thoroughly discussed in the preamble and needs no further comment.
